NOTICE.

The matter hereinafter contained has been collected and prepared for publication, pursuant to a vote passed by the Connecticut Historical Society at its meeting of July 2, 1889. By the same vote, the Publication Committee (consisting of John W. Stedman, Henry Barnard, and Forrest Morgan) was directed to perform the work ; with power to add other members. Said committee added S. W. Adams, F. B. Gay, and F. F. Starr to its own number.

While it is true that even the most important of the documents printed herewith were never before published collectively, it is no less true that some of them were never in print before. Of those which have before been printed, no attempt is here made to cite all the volumes and pamphlets wherein they may be found ; but, generally, the particular volume or pamphlet used in this compilation is mentioned.

Much of the matter contained in the accompanying Notes has been gathered from the lips of aged persons, to whom recourse was had for that purpose. Much, also, was derived through careful search in original records. And much more would have been secured if the original records — most unfortunately for the searcher after truth — had not been lost.

The difficult task of preparing a complete record of past and present officers and members of the Connecticut Historical Society has been accomplished by the efforts of Mr. Starr of this Committee.

Sec. 1. Resolved by this Assembly, That Jeremiah Wadsworth, Nathan Strong, Chauncey Goodrich, William Imlay, John Caldwell, John Morgan, Thomas Y. members of the corporation hereby erected, and their successors and assigns, be, and they are hereby, ordained, constituted, and declared to be one body corporate and politic, in fact and in name, by the name of "The Hartford Library Company," and by that name they and their successors shall and may have perpetual succession, and shall and may by the same name be persons capable in law to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, defend and be defended in all courts and places whatsoever, in all manner of actions, suits, complaints, matters, and causes whatsoever, and to purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain, to them and their successors, lands, tenements, hereditaments, rents, goods, chattels, and effects of any kind or nature soever, provided the annual value of such real and personal estate shall not at any time exceed two thousand dollars exclusive of the books and the annual payments of the members of said company hereinafter mentioned, and also to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter, and renew at pleasure, and to execute, all and singular, those acts, matters, and things which to them shall or may appertain, subject to the rules, limitations, and restrictions hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. The stock of said company shall consist of the property which now doth or at any time hereafter shall belong to said company, and shall be divided into such shares as by the by-laws of said company shall be ordained and established, provided that the whole amount of said company's stock shall not at any time exceed the sum of twenty thousand dollars.

Sec. 3. The proprietor or proprietors of each share in said stock shall pay annually into the treasury of said company four dollars in equal quarterly payments, the first of which quarterly payments shall be made on the first day of January next.

Sec. 4. There shall be a meeting of the company in the city of Hartford, on the first Monday of July annually, which may be adjourned from time to time as may be deemed expedient. All officers named in this resolve to be chosen by said company shall be members of the company, and shall be chosen at such annual meeting by ballot, and a majority of votes regularly given in shall decide the choice, and in case it shall happen that an election of said officers shall not be made on the day required by this resolve, it shall be lawful for said company to meet after three days' notice duly given, and proceed to the choice of said officers in the same manner as is hereinbefore provided, and all meetings of said company shall be holden in the city of Hartford.

Sec. 5. The company at their annual meeting shall choose a secretary, a president, a vice president, seven persons to be a committee of trustees, and a treasurer, who shall continue in office until others are chosen to fill their places, unless displaced in the manner herein-after provided, and if the company shall hereafter increase the committee of trustees may also be increased, but shall not at any time exceed twelve persons exclusive of the president and vice-president.

Sec. 6. The secretary shall record all the votes and proceedings of the company and of the committee of trustees. In case of the absence of the secretary, the committee of trustees may appoint a secretary pro tempore.

Sec. 7. The president shall, ex officio, be a member of the committee of trustees, and shall preside, when present, at all meetings of the company and of the committee of trustees, but shall have no vote in any meeting of the company or of the committee of trustees except in case of an equal division. In the absence of the president, the vice-president shall be president pro tempore, and in absence of the president and vice-president, the senior member of the committee of trustees present shall be president pro tempore. All orders drawn upon the treasurer shall be signed by the president, or in his absence by the president pro tempore. By order of the committee of trustees, the president, or in his absence the vice president, may call special meetings of the company, giving reasonable notice of the time and place of such meetings.

Sec. 8. The vice president shall, ex officio, be a member of the committee of trustees, and in the absence of the president shall exercise all the powers heretofore given to the president.

Sec. 9. The committee of trustees shall have a general superintendence of the library; direct where and in what manner it shall be kept, provided the place where said library be kept be in the city of Hartford; grant such compensations as they shall judge necessary, but no compensation shall at any time be granted to the president, vice-president, or committee of trustees; appoint a librarian, call him to account, and displace him whenever they see cause; adjust all accounts, and exhibit the same once in every year to the company; direct the president to sign all orders drawn by them on the treasurer; select and purchase books for the use of the company, and regulate from time to time the manner, and once in three months prescribe the terms, of admitting persons to be members of the company. The committee of trustees shall have power to call the treasurer to account, to displace him if they see cause, and in case of a vacancy in the office, by removal or other cause, to appoint a treasurer who shall hold his office until a treasurer be chosen by the company. The committee of trustees shall have the sole power of making by-laws for regulating the concerns of the company, and to inflict fines, penalties, and forfeitures for the breach of such by-laws; but no by-law shall be of any force until it has been engrossed and posted up fourteen days in the library room. Provided, that no by-law shall be repugnant to the laws of this state, and that no fine, penalty, or forfeiture shall exceed a share in said company, or the value thereof. Any two of the committee of trustees may request the president, or in his absence the vice-president, to summon a meeting of the company, and in case of refusal or neglect upon such application, a majority of the committee of trustees shall have power to summon a meeting of the company, giving reasonable notice of the time and place of such meeting.

Sec. 10. The treasurer shall have charge of all the moneys which belong to the company; shall accept and pay all orders drawn upon him by the president by order of the committee of trustees; shall execute a bond to the company, if required by the committee of trustees, for the faithful performance of his duty; shall annually, and oftener if thereto required by the committee of trustees, account with them for all moneys so received and paid out; and shall from time to time obey such orders and directions as he shall receive from the committee of trustees.

Sec. 11. No person shall become a member of the company by purchase without the consent and approbation of the committee of trustees.

Sec. 12. Every person holding a share in the company's stock shall be entitled to one vote in all meetings of the company, but no person shall be entitled to more than one vote in any such meeting for any greater number of shares which he may hold.

Sec. 13. All questions in all meetings of the company, and in all meetings of the committee of trustees, shall be decided by a majority of votes regularly given in, except in those cases otherwise provided for in this resolve.

Sec. 14. No alteration shall be made in the third paragraph of this resolve without the unanimous consent of the members of the company present in meeting; and no question relative to any such alteration shall be tried or agitated at any other than the annual meeting; provided, however, that when the value of the books belonging to the company shall amount to ten thousand dollars, the committee of trustees may lessen the annual payment from each member to two dollars.

Sec. 15. The present officers of the company shall continue in office until others are chosen to supply their places, and the present by-laws of the company shall continue in force until they are repealed by the committee of trustees; provided, nevertheless, that if this act, or any of the provisions in this act contained, shall be found inconvenient or in any respect inadequate, the same may be altered or revoked by the general assembly.

Provided always, that nothing herein shall authorize said corporation to carry on merchandise by buying and selling books or other articles, etc.; that said corporation by entering into and carrying on merchandise, shall lose and forfeit all the rights, powers, and privileges herein granted; and provided also, that any former acts or resolves, incorporating said library company, be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

Note.—The foregoing Resolves are copied from pages 718-721, Vol. I, of the Private Laws of this State, edition of 1837. Some slight changes in punctuation and spelling are introduced.

From an account given by William I. Fletcher (see Memorial Hist. of Hartford Co., Vol. I, p. 545), it appears that a Public Library Company was organized in Hartford in 1774. It was at first known as the Librarian Company, but subsequently assumed the title of The Hartford Library Company. It is presumed that this was the same institution which, in 1799, was incorporated under the same name.

There are no data at hand from which a list of the officers of the Hartford Library Co. can be compiled; nor is it known who was its latest President, Secretary, or Librarian. It is understood that the library had no permanent place of abode; its migrations having brought it, at times, into a building in Temple street; on the north corner of Main and Pearl streets; on the corner of Main street and Central row; and into the old State House. Perhaps it was lastly in the variety store of Charles Hosmer, where the Waverly building now is.

The oldest catalogue now extant is in manuscript, under date of 1795; and is in the possession of the Hartford Library Association. Catalogues were printed in 1812, 1818, and 1828. The whole number of volumes is not stated in the catalogue of 1828; but the highest number given to any volume is 3,212 ; and, presumably, this was, at most, as many as the Library then contained.

It is not stated how many, nor who, the shareholders were, nor whether the full amount of the capital stock ($20,000) had ever been subscribed for. "Extracts from the By-Laws" were published in the catalogue of 1828, but they do not state the number of shares into which the capital stock was divided.

It is not known that more than one person is living (Thomas M. Day), who was a shareholder in the Hartford Library Company.

THE HARTFORD YOUNG MEN'S INSTITUTE.

ACT OF INCORPORATION.

At a General Assembly of the State of Connecticut holden at Hartford, in said State, on the first Wednesday of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine :

WHEREAS, Henry Barnard, 2d, George G. Spencer, William M. Durand, Gustavus F. Davis, William N. Matson, Erastus Collins, Junius S. Morgan, James D. Willard, Amariah Storrs, Edwards W. Coleman, Alfred Gill, and others, have associated together for the purpose of intellectual and moral improvement, therefore

Resolved by this Assembly, That the aforesaid individuals, their associates and successors, be, and hereby are, constituted a body corporate and politic by the name of the HARTFORD YOUNG MEN'S INSTITUTE, and by that name shall have perpetual succession, and be capable in law to purchase, receive, hold, and convey all kinds of property, the annual income of which shall not exceed Six Thousand Dollars; to sue and be sued, defend and be defended in all courts and places whatsoever; may have a common Seal, and may change and alter the same at pleasure; may elect a President, and such other Officers and Agents as they may find necessary and convenient, and make and carry into effect such By-Laws and regulations as they may deem necessary to promote and secure the objects of the Corporation.

The first meeting of the Institute shall be holden on the first Tuesday of June, at such place as may be designated by a majority of the persons named above, by notice in one or more newspapers printed in Hartford.

Provided always, that this Act may be altered, amended, or repealed at the pleasure of the General Assembly.

STATE OF CONNECTICUT.

SECRETARY'S OFFICE,)
May 27th, A. D. 1839. }

I certify the foregoing to be a true copy of Record in this office.

In testimony whereof, I have hereto affixed the Seal of the State, and signed my name, at the date as above.

ROYAL R. HINMAN, Secretary.

Note. — The above Act of Incorporation, and the following extracts from the record of the Annual Meeting of the Hartford Young Men's Institute of 1839, as also the List of Donors and Life Members — are taken from the First Annual Report of the Executive Committee of that institution, published in 1839. Copies of this report are quite scarce. It will be seen from the extracts that the Institute became the owner of the volumes of the (defunct?) Hartford Library Company in 1839. Also, that before its incorporation the "Young Men's Institute" existed as a voluntary association (organized in 1838); and the chartered "Hartford Young Men's Institute" became its successor. It is said that the Hon. Henry Barnard was the originator of the whole enterprise.

The first catalogue of the Institute, published in 1839, showed that the library contained 5,620 volumes. The same library now contains about 40,000 volumes. S. W. A.

CHANGING NAME OF THE HARTFORD YOUNG MEN'S INSTITUTE, AND AMENDING THE CHARTER THEREOF.

Resolved by this Assembly: SECTION 1. That the name of The Hartford Young Men's Institute be and the same is hereby changed so that the corporation shall hereafter be entitled The Hartford Library Association. No right or obligation of said corporation shall be impaired thereby.

SEC. 2. Said corporation shall have power to place the funds and property which it may at any time own, other than books and furniture, in the hands of such trustees as the said corporation may select, for such length of time and upon such terms and conditions and for such purposes as shall seem to said corporation to be desirable for the greater and more permanent security of said funds and property and the better promotion of the objects of said corporation, and the principal of said funds and property shall not be holden for any debt of said corporation incurred subsequently to the establishment of such trust and during the continuance thereof; and the income of said funds and property for any year shall not be liable to be holden for any debt of said corporation, except such debts as shall be incurred during such year: provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall, in any way, affect the liability of said funds and property to be holden for any just debt of said corporation incurred prior to the establishment of such trust.

Approved, March 26, 1878. [Special Acts, 1878, p. 104.]

[Extracts from the First Annual Report.]

ANNUAL MEETING, JUNE 4, 1889.

The second annual meeting of the Young Men's Institute was held at Gilman's Hall this evening at half-past 7 o'clock.

The President submitted the First Annual Report of the Executive Committee, and the Treasurer an account of the finances of the Institute, which were severally accepted, and ordered to be printed.

The President notified the meeting that the Executive Committee, in pursuance of the instructions of the Institute, at their first quarterly meeting, had procured from the General Assembly an act of incorporation under the name of the "Hartford Young Men's Institute." The act was read, and a resolution passed and signed, transferring all the property, interest, and rights belonging to the Young Men's Institute, to the Hartford Young Men's Institute.

The meeting was then organized as the Hartford Young Men's Institute, with Henry Barnard, 2d, as Chairman, and Lorenzo Hamilton, Secretary.

The act of incorporation was accepted, and a committee consisting of George G. Spencer, William N. Matson, and C. L. Kelsey, appointed, who reported the former Constitution of the Institute, with some modifications, as the By-Laws for the future government of the corporation.

The following officers were then chosen for the year ensuing :

HENRY BARNARD, 2d,	President.
GEORGE G. SPENCER, 1st	Vice-President.
JUNIUS S. MORGAN, 2d	"
WILLIAM N. MATSON,	Corresponding Secretary.
ALFRED GILL,	Recording Secretary.

The attention of the Committee was early and perseveringly directed to the establishment of a library in some measure adequate to meet the wants of the Institution and of the city. A considerable amount of means was placed at their disposal by the liberal subscriptions of the friends of the Institute and life members, but it was evident that unless this could be expended in the purchase of books not already in the reach of the members, in existing libraries, the main object could not be secured. Accordingly arrangements were effected with the shareholders of the Hartford Library Company, by which their valuable collection of books, amounting to more than 3,000 volumes, was transferred to the executive committee in trust for the Institute. This transfer is not yet complete, although nothing is wanting on the part of the proprietors of the library to make it so, as soon as the Institute by organizing under the act of incorporation, shall be capable of receiving the same. This arrangement is alike valuable to the members of the Institute and the Library Company, and enlarges the selection of both, without diminishing the privileges of either. As soon as this arrangement was effected, and before any portion of our funds were expended, in order that they might be invested to the best advantage, the friends of the Institute were invited to send in such contributions in books as they were disposed to make. In compliance with this application, more than 800 volumes were added to the library. Since then, purchases to the amount of more than 1,500 volumes have been made, so that the aggregate number of volumes now in the possession of the Institute exceeds 5,600.

Note.—The List (of 1886) of Life Members is the latest one printed. The names of such as had deceased, and there were many of them, are not included. Life membership was secured through payment of fifty dollars.

In 1839, several became life members of the Young Men's Institute by virtue of having been shareholders of the Hartford Library Company. Thomas M. Day, still living, is an instance of such membership. From 1842 to 1872, the fee for life membership was $35. In 1873, it became $50, at which sum it remains. In 1844, a life membership could be gained by contributing $200 to the fund of the Wadsworth Athenaeum.

Of the 78 "Life Members and Donors" (p. 17), it is believed that only two, Henry Barnard and George Beach, are living.

The Institute first occupied its present rooms in 1844; it having expended $1,150 in fitting up said rooms in 1843. It receives $500 annually from the Watkinson Library Fund.

THE CONNECTICUT HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ACT OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY INCORPORATING THE CONNECTICUT HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—PASSED MAY SESSION, 1835.

Upon the petition of John Trumbull and others, shewing that in other States societies have been formed for the purpose of collecting records and other documents connected with the early settlement of our country, and praying for an act of incorporation for the purpose of discovering, procuring, and preserving whatever may relate to the civil, ecclesiastical, and natural history of the United States, and especially of the State of Connecticut:—

Resolved by this Assembly, That John Trumbull, Thomas C. Brownell, Timothy Pitkin, John S. Peters, William W. Ellsworth, Thomas Day, Thomas Robbins, Daniel Burhans, Thomas Hubbard, Isaac Toucey, Nathaniel S. Wheaton, George Sumner, Roger M. Sherman, William T. Williams, Martin Welles, Joseph Battell, William Cooley, Thomas H. Gallaudet, Thomas S. Williams, Eli Todd, Walter Mitchell, George W. Doane, Samuel B. Woodward, Samuel H. Huntington, Samuel W. Dana, James Gould, Samuel A. Foot, Nathan Johnson, Hawley Olmstead, Benjamin Trumbull, and John Hall, and their associates and successors, be and hereby are ordained, constituted, and declared to be, forever hereafter, a body corporate, by the name of "The Connecticut Historical Society," and by that name they, and their associates and successors, shall and may have perpetual succession; shall be capable of suing and being sued, pleading and being impleaded, and also to purchase, receive, hold, and convey any estate, real or personal, to an amount not exceeding thirty thousand dollars; and may have a common seal, and the same may alter at pleasure; may establish rules relative to the admission of future members; may ordain, establish, and put in execution such by-laws and regulations, not contrary to the provisions of this charter, or the laws of this State, as shall be deemed necessary for the government of said corporation.

And be it further resolved, That the Governor of this State, the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Judges of the Superior Court, shall be ex-officio members of the society.

And be it further resolved, That said corporation shall meet once a year for the choice of a President, Vice-President, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, Treasurer, and such other officers as may be designated, from time to time, by the by-laws of the society.

And be it further resolved, That the first meeting of the society shall be holden at the State House in Hartford, at such time as shall be designated by the Honorable John Trumbull, notice thereof being previously given in one or more newspapers printed in Hartford.

Provided, Nevertheless, that this act of incorporation shall be subject to be revoked or altered, at the pleasure of the General Assembly. — [From the pamphlet published by the Conn. Historical Society in 1839.]

ACT RENEWING THE CHARTER, PASSED MAY SESSION, 1839.

Whereas, John Trumbull and others at the session of this Assembly, held at Hartford, on the first Wednesday of May, 1825, were incorporated, by the name of the Connecticut Historical Society, for the purpose of discovering, procuring, and preserving materials for the civil, ecclesiastical, and natural history of the United States, and especially of the State of Connecticut: And whereas, it was provided, by the act of incorporation, that said corporation should meet once a year, for the choice of a president, vice-president, corresponding secretary, recording secretary, treasurer, and such other officers as might be designated, from time to time, by the by-laws of the society: And whereas, the persons so incorporated met in the month of May, 1825, and accepted said act of incorporation, and elected the officers mentioned therein, who entered upon the duties assigned them respectively; but since the year 1825 there has been no election of officers in said society, and it is now a matter of doubt whether the charter of said society is not forfeited by non user; and, if otherwise, it is difficult to ascertain who are now members: And whereas, some valuable historical materials were collected by said society, while it was in operation, which have been thus far preserved, but which are in danger of being scattered and lost, without the care of this or some similar institution: And whereas, the objects of said society are important and worthy of legislative protection and encouragement: it is therefore Resolved and declared by this Assembly, That the existence of said society as a body corporate, with the powers and privileges originally granted thereto, be continued and perpetuated, as though its officers had been chosen annually since 1825.

Resolved further, That Thomas Day be empowered to call the next meeting of said society, for the choice of officers, and the transaction of other business, at such place in the city of Hartford, and at such time, as he may designate for that purpose, giving previous notice thereof in one or more newspapers printed in said city.

Provided, nevertheless, that these resolves, as well as the original act of incorporation, shall be subject to be revoked or altered at the pleasure of the General Assembly.—[Private Acts, 1839, p. 57.]

Note.—It appears from the pamphlet published by the Conn. Historical Society in 1839, that the first president of said society, elected in 1825, was John Trumbull, the Judge, and author of McFingal; that the Rev. Thomas Robbins, D.D., was then its corresponding secretary; and that Bishop George Washington Doane (then a professor at Washington, now Trinity College), was secretary of the standing committee. Within a year thereafter Trumbull and Doane removed from this State, and the organization remained in abeyance until the revival of its charter in 1839, when Thomas Day, Secretary of State, became its president, and Henry Barnard, 2d, its corresponding secretary.

Mr. Thomas M. Day furnishes the following information :

"On May 29th, 1839, and for the two days following, there appeared in the Hartford Daily Courant, this advertisement :

"CONNECTICUT HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

"A meeting of this Society, under their renewed Charter, will be held at the rooms of the Young Men's Institute, in GILMAN'S BUILDING (146½ Main Street), on Saturday, the first day of June next, at 3 o'clock p. m., for the election of officers, and the transaction of other business.

THOMAS DAY."

EXTRACTS FROM THE WILL OF THE REV. THOMAS ROBBINS, D.D.

"7th. I have a large collection of silver coins, and a small number of gold coins, which I commit to the care of my Executors, for the benefit of the Connecticut Historical Society; and particularly for the benefit of the Library.

"8th. The rest and residue of my property, including my stock in the Hartford, the Phoenix, and the Savings Banks, in Hartford, and any other property belonging to me at my decease, excepting the articles otherwise designated in this testamentary instrument—I give to the Connecticut Historical Society, to be a perpetual fund, the avails of which to be applied to the preservation, increase, and improvement of the Library; primarily, Theology and History; expecting also, that the Society will place a suitable monument at the place of my burial."

Note.—Dr. Robbins died Sept. 13, 1856, and his will was probated on the 18th of the same month. It had been executed May 10, 1853. The property bequeathed as mentioned in clause 8th above quoted, was appraised at $4,686.50.

The valuable Library of Dr. Robbins had been in the possession of the Historical Society since 1844, he being the Librarian of the Society.

Among other bequests to this Society (exclusive of those mentioned in the wills of Daniel Wadsworth and David Watkinson), have been the following :

By the will of Thomas Day (dated December 26, 1854, and probated March 16, 1855), $1,000 ; unconditionally.

By the will of Daniel Goodwin (dated January 5, 1876, and probated July 25th, the same year), $1,000 ; " to be applied as Charles J. Hoadly shall direct."

By the will of James B. Hosmer (dated November 17, 1871, and probated September 30, 1878), $5,000. By the same instrument he bequeathed to said Society his "engravings and works of art." Also, the remainder of his library (including the Hosmer family Bible and the Bidwell family Bible), after taking out those given to the Theological Institute. Also, "a bag of coins," in his secretary ; "a case of medals of American officers, and Wyatt's Book of Memoirs of said officers." He gave his paintings to the Wadsworth Athenaeum.

By the terms of the charter of the City Bank, granted in 1851, that institution was required to pay $1,000 to the Historical Society.

The Library now contains, by estimation, more than 20,000 volumes, and a rare collection of manuscripts. No catalogue of these, nor of its paintings, etc., has ever been made.

RESOLVE APPROPRIATING $1,000.

Whereas, the Connecticut Historical Society was incorporated by the General Assembly of this State, at its session in May, 1825, for the purpose of discovering, procuring, and preserving matter relative to the civil, military, ecclesiastical and natural history of this State and of the United States, — and whereas, in the prosecution of said object, a large and valuable collection of books, manuscripts, and antiquities, illustrative of the colonial, revolutionary, and subsequent history of Connecticut, has been collected at great personal expense and exertion by the members thereof; — and whereas, the funds of said society are utterly inadequate to the proper arrangement and binding of manuscripts, papers, &c.: — therefore, —

Resolved by this General Assembly, That the Comptroller of Public Accounts be, and he is hereby authorized to draw an order on the Treasurer of this State in favor of the treasurer of the Connecticut Historical Society, for the sum of one thousand dollars; to be by said society expended in arranging and binding the manuscripts and papers aforesaid, for the purpose of easy reference and to ensure their preservation. — [Private Acts, 1845, p. 74.]

VII. ALTERATIONS.

Any alteration of these by-laws shall be submitted to a regular meeting, held prior to that on which the vote on the same is taken.

[Agreement between the Historical Society and the Watkinson Library.]

Note. — On April 1, 1862, the Connecticut Historical Society voted: To accept the bequests contained in the Watkinson will, upon the conditions in said will provided; also, appointing Calvin Day, Erastus Smith, and J. Hammond Trumbull a committee to procure plans for adding to the space occupied by said society in the Wadsworth Athe-neum building, or in an extension thereof, to be used for a library of reference, in connection with the room of said society; and, for that purpose, to come to an arrangement with the trustees of the Watkinson Library; the whole to be done with the assent of the Wadsworth Athenaeum corporation. Said committee submitted its report on April 15, 1862. The document, which is lengthy, is to be found recorded, in full, in the records of the Historical Society, and was also published as a pamphlet. The committee reported that the trustees of the Watkinson Library had purchased the house and grounds of the late Daniel Wadsworth, adjoining the land of the Wadsworth Athenaeum; that it had conferred with the committee of said trustees, viz., Alfred Smith, Henry Barnard, and George M. Bartholomew; had examined two plans for the proposed enlargement, and recommended the passage of votes, which may be summarized as follows:—

That the Connecticut Historical Society proceed to construct an addition to its division of the Athenaeum building; that said addition be for the use of the books of the Watkinson Library until such time as the whole, or a part thereof, shall be needed for the books and collections of the Historical Society; that in that case the said society will repay to said trustees the whole, or a proportional part, of the moneys expended [of David Watkinson] in constructing such addition, to enable them to erect other rooms for the Watkinson Library, in connection with the books, etc., of the Historical Society—or this society would, “with such repaid moneys,” erect said additions for the Watkinson Library; that, in case of re-possessing said addition, the Historical Society would give not less than two years’ previous notice, in writing, to said trustees; that the president of the Historical Society be authorized to execute an agreement, or indenture, to the foregoing effect with said trustees; and that Calvin Day, Erastus Smith, and J. Hammond Trumbull be authorized to arrange the terms and stipulations necessary to connect said library with the books and collections of the Historical Society.

The report of said committee was adopted, and said votes were passed, April 15, 1862. At the same time the form of an indenture, submitted by said committee and made a part of its report, was carried by said adoption. It begins with a preamble containing many whereases, reciting, among other things, the fact of the bequest, by the late David Watkinson, of the sum of $100,000 to Alfred Smith, James B. Hosmer, and others, trustees, for the purpose of establishing a library of reference in “perpetual connection” with the Historical Society; and of the provision in said Watkinson’s will that $5,000 out of said $100,000 should, with the interest thereon, be appropriated in aiding said Historical Society to extend its division of said Athenaeum building, or in some other way enlarging its space, so as to bring the same in connection with said library of reference; and of the desire on the part of the Historical Society to use said $5,000 for the purpose aforesaid, and of the scant space then occupied by said society, etc. It was therefore agreed, between the said Historical Society, of the first part, and the trustees of the Watkinson Library, of the second part, that said party of the first part would erect an addition to the Athenaeum building, extending from the east side thereof to the eastern line of the land belonging to said Athenaeum; said addition to be used by said society and said library of reference for the mutual convenience of both, having due regard to their respective charters, the trust deed of Daniel Wadsworth, and the will of said Watkinson. It was further agreed that if the Watkinson Library should thereafter erect, on its own land, another building for the accommodation of said library of reference, then said building should be so constructed as to open into the addition hereinbefore provided for, so as to make the respective collections of books, etc., inseparably and perpetually usable in connection with each other, and that an "inseparable union" should exist between the two collections. It was also agreed that the Historical Society would appoint and pay a librarian so soon as it should be able to collect the necessary funds, as contemplated in said Watkinson's will, and in the manner therein specified; said appointment to be subject to the approval of said trustees, who were to contribute to the payment of said librarian in the manner mentioned in said will; the compensation of said librarian to be such as both said parties should from time to time agree upon. Said trustees further agreed to deposit in said addition all the books and collections constituting said library of reference. Also, that said Historical Society should always have the prior right to the use of said addition, or of any part thereof, whenever it should desire and find needful so to do.

On May 2, 1862, the trustees of the Watkinson Library, by votes, formally "accepted, approved, and agreed to" the votes of the Historical Society, of which a summary has been given above; and authorized its president, Alfred Smith, to execute said indenture on the part of said trustees. Provided, however, that said indenture contain an additional clause binding the Historical Society to expend an equal amount of money in the construction of other accommodations for said library of reference before, and in case, said library be required to vacate said addition; otherwise, the Historical Society should repay to the Watkinson Library the amount so expended from said fund of the Watkinson Library.

On May 6, 1862, said votes of the trustees of the Watkinson Library were adopted by the Historical Society, including said additional clause of the indenture. A committee, consisting of Calvin Day, James B. Hosmer, and J. Hammond Trumbull, was then chosen to contract for and superintend the construction of said addition ; being the building now occupied by the Watkinson Library.

The foregoing summary is compiled from the record book of the Connecticut Historical Society. In the records sixteen closely-written pages are occupied with this matter. S. W. A.

WADSWORTH ATHENEUM.

SUBSCRIPTION DOCUMENT FOR A FUND FOR THE ERECTION OF A BUILDING ON LAND PROPOSED TO BE GIVEN BY DANIEL WADSWORTH.

Whereas, DANIEL WADSWORTH, Esq., offers to grant a lot of land lying between an alley north and Charles Brainard's land south, and between Main Street west and the garden and grounds in his own occupancy east, as a site for a building to be constructed in three divisions, with suitable walls between them, extending from the foundation to the roof, as a protection from fire, and to be separately used, one for a gallery of fine arts, another division for the library and other accommodations of the Hartford Young Men's Institute, and the third division for the use of the Connecticut Historical Society, or in case either of the above objects should be abandoned or transferred elsewhere, then the part so left vacant to be applied to other objects of general interest, free of charge, except for insurance, taxes (if any), preservation, and repairs of the building.

We, the subscribers, to secure the benefit of the above munificent offer, hereby unite ourselves into an association (with the intention of procuring an act of incorporation) to erect a suitable building, on the plan and for the purposes above expressed, and to establish a Gallery of the Fine Arts.

The capital stock of the Association or Incorporation shall be divided into two classes of shares: first, those of $100 each, which shall be assignable and transmissible, and secondly, those of $25 each, which shall become extinct upon the death of the subscriber.

The concerns of said Association shall be managed by trustees, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by their charter, or pursuant thereto. [Eleven] of such trustees shall be elected annually by the shareholders, and every subscriber to said capital stock to the amount of $500 shall by virtue thereof be a trustee for life.

Every subscriber to the amount of $25 or more shall be a member of said corporation, and in all meetings of the shareholders he shall be entitled to give one vote on every share of $25, and four votes on every share of $100 held by him. A subscriber to the amount of $50 shall be entitled to the privilege of admission to the gallery during his life, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the trustees for that purpose. Every holder of a share of $100 shall be entitled to such privilege while he remains a holder; and every holder of shares amounting to $200 or more shall be entitled to the same privilege, and such privileges in the other institutions connected with this Association as may be agreed on by said trustees and the directors of said institution respectively.

And to this end we, the subscribers, hereby severally promise to pay to David F. Robinson, David Watkinson, and James B. Hosmer, or to the survivors of them, in trust for this Association, the sums affixed to our respective names, in two equal installments, one on the 1st of July, 1842, and the other on the 1st of April, 1843. Provided, that no subscription shall be binding unless at least twenty thousand dollars shall be subscribed hereto by the first day of December, 1841.

[Total sum subscribed, $31,730.72.]

Note.—It will be seen that the total number of signatures to the foregoing list is 133. Of these, one subscribed for a sum less than $25, making 132 signers who would be entitled to hold "shares" of one or the other of the two classes of shares established by the act of incorporation which followed. That act provided that the $100 shares should be transferable, while the $25 shares should become extinct upon the death of the persons who subscribed for them. As only the $100 shares possessed the ordinary elements of shares of stock, of being assignable and descendible—it would seem that they, and they only, could be considered in estimating the amount of the capital stock of the corporation. An analysis of the subscription list given above will show the following results:—

The capital stock amounted to $30,600, originally held by 108 subscribers. The holders of life shares were twenty-four in number, amounting (as some had subscribed $50 each) to $950; leaving fractional subscriptions, aggregating $180.72, to make up the grand total of $31,730.72. The shares outstanding and traceable to-day amount to $29,700, which may be called the present capital stock.

It is not important, however, to inquire whether the stock is worth more or less than par. It can never possess any market value. As it can never, in the nature of things, pay any cash dividend, it cannot be made the basis of speculation. Should the corporation divert its property to any other than its present use, the ownership of both land and buildings would revert to the heirs of Daniel Wadsworth; and the personality, probably, would return to its donors, or their legal representatives. So that the real interest of shareholders is practically limited to the right which they possess to care for and manage the property in the interest of this beneficent institution.

It is perhaps as well here as anywhere to introduce some account of the way in which these subscriptions were secured. The following information is obtained from memoranda in the possession of Wadsworth Athenæum:—

Mr. Wadsworth's plan was substantially settled in the summer of 1841. A meeting of citizens was held on the 24th of September, the same year, at the office of William H. Inlay, in order to devise the ways and means of raising a fund for the erection of a building on land proposed to be given by Daniel Wadsworth for that purpose. At this meeting David Watkinson was chairman, and Gideon Welles was clerk. It chose Thomas Day, John M. Niles, and Henry Barnard a committee to mature a plan, to be submitted at a subsequent meeting. This was on motion of Erastus Smith. At an adjourned meeting, September 28th, Erastus Smith, Ezra Clark, Jr., and Alfred Smith were added to the committee. On the 30th, a draft of a subscription (see above) was submitted and adopted, and Thomas Day, Alfred Smith, John M. Niles, A. M. Collins, James B. Hosmer, David F. Robinson, Gideon Welles, Albert W. Butler, Calvin Day, Elijah H. Owen, Erastus Smith, Ezra Clark, Jr., Henry Barnard, 2d, Wm. J. Hamersley, Junius S. Morgan, and Stephen Spencer—were chosen a committee to solicit subscriptions. This they evidently did by circulating printed copies of the form printed above. S. W. A.

THE DEED OF TRUST BY DANIEL WADSWORTH.

To all people to whom these presents shall come, — Greeting :

Know ye, that I, Daniel Wadsworth of Hartford, in the county of Hartford, and State of Connecticut, for the consideration of one dollar, received to my full satisfaction of Thomas S. Williams and Alfred Smith, both of said Hartford, do give, grant, bargain, sell, and confirm unto the said Williams and Smith, and to the survivor of them, a certain parcel of land, lying in the city of Hartford, bounded and described as follows, viz. : Beginning at the southwest corner thereof on Main street, where my land joins the northwest corner of Charles Brainard's house lot, thence running northwardly about one hundred and twenty-one feet and a half, to the alley leading from Main street to my dwelling-house, thence eastwardly along the south side of the same alley about one hundred and seventy-two feet, to the east side of the gateway or cart-way nearest to Main street, which passes through and under the brick out-building or wing connected with my dwelling-house, thence southwardly along the face of the wall which bounds the east side of said gateway in a straight line, at right angles with the north wall of said out-building, to the north side of said Brainard's house lot, about one hundred and twenty feet, thence westwardly about one hundred and seventy-three feet to the place of beginning; bounded east by my own land, west by Main street, north by said alley, south by Charles Brainard's land. Reserving to myself, my heirs, and assigns, a right of way and free passage in common with the grantees, their heirs and assigns, on, over, and through said gateway, and on, over, and across the east end of the above granted premises, which right of way is to be twelve feet wide from the south side of said out-building and gateway, to said Brainard's north line. Said gateway, and said twelve foot gangway are to afford a free and common passage to the grantor and grantees, and their respective heirs and assigns, between the land on either side thereof and the alley aforesaid. Also reserving to myself and my wife, during our joint lives, and the life of the survivor of us, the use of so much of the above granted premises as lies east of the buildings and garden lately occupied by J. C. Furber and William J. Hamersley, unless we, or either of us, should choose to surrender or relinquish to the grantees, our use of some part of this reservation during our life.

To have and to hold the above granted premises, with the appurtenances thereof, unto them the said Williams and Smith, their heirs and assigns, and to the survivor of them, his heirs and assigns forever, for the uses hereinafter expressed; and in trust for a corporation intended to be created and organized, and to include as members thereof certain subscribers to a fund or capital stock, or so many of them as shall unite and become incorporated, together with their associates; which fund or capital stock has been subscribed and promised, and is intended for the erection of a building on the above granted premises, to be constructed and maintained in three principal divisions, separated from each other by substantial partition walls, extending from the foundation to the roof, as a protection from fire; the central division is to be appropriated and used for a Gallery of fine arts, the north wing or division for a library, reading-room, and other accommodations of the Hartford Young Men's Institute; and the south wing or division for the Connecticut Historical Society; with power and authority to said society to allow or grant rooms or accommodations in their division for the use of the Natural History Society of Hartford, on such terms and to such extent as said Historical Society shall think proper.

In case the use of either division of said building shall at any time be abandoned or relinquished by the society or institution for which the same is intended and appropriated, the division so left vacant and unused may be applied and appropriated to some other institution or object of science, learning, or arts of general interest and utility. The use of said building is intended to be without charge to the several societies or institutions occupying the same, except for insurance, taxes (if any),

and for the preservation and repairs of the building. And also, I, the said Wadsworth, do for myself, my heirs, executors, and administrators, covenant with the said Williams and Smith, and the survivor of them, and their heirs and assigns, that at and until the en sealing of these presents, I am well seized of the premises, as a good indefeasible estate in fee simple, and have good right to bargain and sell the same in manner and form as is above written, and that the same is free of all incumbrances whatsoever. And furthermore, I, the said Wadsworth, do by these presents bind myself and my heirs forever, to warrant and defend the above granted and bargained premises, to them the said Williams and Smith, and the survivor of them, and their heirs and assigns, against all claims and demands whatsoever.

Provided, and this grant and conveyance are made on and subject to the conditions following, viz.: That no building be erected or suffered to remain on the granted premises at a less distance than thirty feet from Main Street. Also that excepting such principal building, in three divisions as aforesaid, no other building more than twelve feet high shall ever be erected or placed on said land.

Also, that no building shall be erected on said land at a less distance from said principal building than twenty-five feet.

Provided, however, that so much of said out-building as now stands upon or over the granted premises may be suffered to remain and be maintained and rebuilt by said grantees and their assigns. Whenever said proposed corporation shall have been formed and organized, it shall be the duty of said trustees, or the survivor or successors of them, to convey the premises before granted to such corporation, subject to the uses, trusts, conditions and reservations contained herein.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the eighteenth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-two.

And whereas, Daniel Wadsworth of the city of Hartford, has granted to Thomas S. SEC. 2. The capital stock of this corporation shall be held by those who have or shall become subscribers thereto in the following manner. Said stock shall be divided into two classes of shares: First, those of one hundred dollars each, which shall be assignable and transferable; and secondly, those of twenty five dollars each, which shall become extinct upon the death of the subscriber. Every such subscriber to the amount of twenty-five dollars or more shall be a member of said corporation, and in all meetings of the shareholders he shall be entitled to give one vote on every share of twenty-five dollars; and every holder of a share or shares of one hundred dollars, shall have the right to give four votes on every such share of one hundred dollars held by him. Every holder of a share of one hundred dollars shall be entitled to such privilege while he remains a holder, and every holder of shares amounting to two hundred dollars or more shall be entitled to the same privilege, and such privileges in the other institutions connected with this corporation as may be agreed upon by said trustees and the directors of said institutions respectively. Provided, that in the case of the subscriptions which have been or shall be made to said stock by or in the name and behalf of any copartnership or by any joint subscribers who are not copartners, such copartners or joint subscribers may determine and designate, by a writing under their hands, who of their number shall have, enjoy, and exercise the same powers, privileges, and rights, which individual subscribers to a like amount are entitled to have, enjoy, and exercise.

SEC. 3. The concerns of said corporation shall be managed by a board of trustees, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the by-laws thereof; which board shall consist of eleven trustees, to be elected annually by the shareholders, and of subscribers to the capital stock to the amount of five hundred dollars, who shall, by virtue of their subscriptions, be trustees for life.

SEC. 4. The shareholders of said corporation, in a general meeting thereof, shall have power to ordain and establish such rules and by-laws as they may deem expedient, relative to the time, place, and manner of holding their meetings, with the notice to be given thereof; relative to the officers of the corporation, and of the board of trustees and their duties; relative to a quorum in meetings of the shareholders, and of the trustees; relative to the mode of transfer of the transferable shares; and generally for carrying into effect the powers hereby granted, not otherwise specifically provided for. Provided such rules and by-laws be not repugnant to the provisions of this charter, or the laws of this State.

SEC. 5. The exemption from taxation, provided for by the sixth section of this act, shall be subject to the future action and control of the General Assembly; and all parts of this act may, by said assembly, be amended, altered, or repealed. — [Private Laws of Conn., Vol. IV, p. 1202, compilation of 1856.]

Note.— In section 1, of the foregoing Act of Incorporation, there appear the names of 144 persons, as the Charter Members. This is 11 in excess of the number of signatures appended to the Subscription List, on p. 32. The discrepancy is partly accounted for by the fact that on the latter are the signatures of 21 copartnerships, and one corporation, where the signature in each case represents several persons. In such cases, some one member of the firm was (as required by the Charter) chosen to represent the firm.

In the same section are the names of six Charter Members whose names do not appear on the Subscription List; nor, so far as can be seen, were they members of any of the firms whose signatures are there. These are: William H. Inlay, Jonathan Seymour Brown, Allen Porter, Samuel Kellogg, William Kellogg, and Oliver E. Williams. In four instances, at least, a person is named as Charter Member, while one or more of his associates, in the same firm, are also named as such members. These are: Elizur T. Goodrich, Elijah H. Owen, Wm. L. Wright, and Charles Mygatt.

On the other hand, the names of 23 persons appearing on the Subscription List, are not mentioned in the Charter. These are:

Ebenezer W. Bull,	Edson Fessenden,	Ezra Clark, Sen.,
Joseph Pratt,	Dudley Buck,	Lucien B. Hawks,
Alfred Gill,	Charles F. Pond,	Julius Catlin,
Daniel Buck,	Elisha Peck,	Thomas Belknap,
Hezekiah Brainard,	James M. Bunce,	Horatio Alden,
Asa Farwell,	Solomon Porter,	Ebenezer Flower,
Chauncey Ives,	Geo. Brinley, Jr.,	George Beach, Sen
William Ely,	Walter Phelps,

Most of these had subscribed $100. Perhaps some subscribers had died, or had failed to pay their subscriptions; and others may have been included in the phrase "and their associates," in the Charter.

If we add to the 144 Charter Members the 23 subscribers not named in the Charter, the grand total of the founders of the Atheneum is 167. Of these, it is not believed that more than 21 are living. They are:

Newton Case,	James C. Walkley,
Edwin D. Tiffany,	Ezra Clark,
Philemon F. Robbins,	Junius S. Morgan (London),
Henry Barnard,	Ralph Saunders,
Leonard H. Bacon,	Roland Mather,
Stillman Niles,	Thomas M. Day,
William R. Cone,	Curtis Judson,
George Beach,	Joseph Pratt,
Geo. M. Bartholomew,	Daniel Buck (San Francisco),
James H. Holcomb (Nice),	Thomas Belknap, and
	Henry A. Chittenden (N. J.).

Of one of these survivors (the Hon. Henry Barnard, LL.D.), it may be truly said that he is the only person, now living, who was an original member of the Historical Society (in 1839), Young Men's Institute, Wadsworth Atheneum, and Watkinson Library.

The work on the Atheneum building had been begun before the Act of Incorporation, above printed, was passed. The construction commenced as early as March, 1842, the very month in which Wadsworth executed his deed of trust. As, by the terms of that deed, his grantees were to convey the land to the corporation, when formed — it follows that they could not convey the land until after the passage of the Act in question; and, in fact, at the date when they made the transfer (in November, 1842), some eight months of labor had been expended on the building.

The building was completed in July, 1844. The committee having the matter in charge was composed of: Alfred Smith, James B. Hosmer, Gideon Welles, David Watkinson, David F. Robinson, Erastus Smith, and Calvin Day. The architects were Ithiel Town and Alex. J. Davis (the firm of Town & Davis), of New York city.* The contractor for the masonry was Frederick Campbell of Willimantic, and for the joiner-work Noah Wheaton of Hartford. James B. Hosmer was the "superintendent." The building had a front of 100 feet in length, the center being 80 feet deep, and the wings each 70 feet. The walls of the front and the north side were faced with gneiss, from the quarry of Elijah Sparks of Eastbury, Conn., and lined with brick to the depth of 12 inches. The two division walls, separating the wings from the central section, were of brick, extending from the foundation walls to the roof, and were 16 inches thick.

The cost of the building was as follows :

Paid by the building committee,	$26,826.38
D. Wadsworth, for sky-light, portico, etc.,	2,076.00
Subscribers, for painting interior, etc.,	3,850.00
Young Men's Institute, for alcoves, etc.,	960.00
Connecticut Historical Society, for cases, etc.,	645.00
Total,	$34,357.38

Inasmuch as the full amount of the original subscription was $31,730.32, it will be seen that (assuming that the whole sum subscribed was collected), there remained a deficiency of more than $2,600, to be otherwise made up. Of this, the Institute and the Historical Society paid $1,605. In January, 1844, David Watkinson added $500 to his original subscription. In March, of the same year, there was started a new subscription, to raise $3,000 to secure the services of George

* Mr. Town was the architect of the City Hall, on Kinsley street, and of the Capitol, at New Haven.

Platt, a decorator, of New York (but formerly of London), to paint the interior of the building. His work was "to be done in the beautiful process called kalsomine"; a process "discovered about two years since," and known only "to Mr. Platt and the discoverer." For this purpose Mr. Wadsworth and Alfred Smith subscribed each $500; E. W. Bull and the Etna Insurance Company subscribed each $200; David Watkinson, Thomas Belknap, Julius Catlin, Lucien B. Hanks, Ezra Clark, Walter Phelps, George Brinley, Solomon Porter, James M. Bunce, Elisha Peck, Charles F. Pond, Daniel Buck, E. F. Lincoln (?), Joseph Pratt, Eliphalet Terry, and William Ely subscribed each $100; Dudley Buck, Asa Farwell, and Chauncey Jones each $50; and Alfred Gill, $25; making in all $3,175 for the decoration fund.

All subscriptions and contributions amounted to $39,086. As the entire cost of the building was but $34,357, it would seem that the shrinkage in collections amounted to $4,729; or there was a surplus of the same sum; or that there was some shrinkage, offset by some surplus funds.

The land, and the old buildings, donated by Mr. Wadsworth, were estimated, at that day, to be worth $16,200. His cash subscriptions and payments, toward the building alone, amounted to $9,076. So that his donations were of the value of $25,276, exclusive of his gifts toward the Art Gallery, etc.; and, it hardly needs be added, the value is many fold more to-day.

The historic dwelling house of the Wadsworth family, removed in order to make room for the Atheneum building, had been built by Mr. Wadsworth's grandfather, the Rev. Daniel Wadsworth, in 1730; and had been occupied by his father, Col. Jeremiah Wadsworth, in the Revolutionary period. In it, Mr. Wadsworth, the donor, had been reared. It was removed to the south side of Buckingham street, where it stood, somewhat altered as to its external features, until it was demolished in 1887.

There was an additional subscription, for book-cases, etc., of which no note has been made in the foregoing sketch. James B. Hosmer paid $100; Alfred Smith and Thomas Day paid each $50. Others paid sums of from $5 to $25 each. The iron fence was built from the proceeds of another subscription fund.

THE ART GALLERY.

By the terms of the original charter and donations, the central division of Wadsworth Atheneum building was reserved for the Atheneum proper. In it the two rooms occupied by the collections of paintings and statuary, respectively, were reserved for that purpose.

As early as February 19, 1844, the Atheneum trustees voted to allow the use of the central section of the building for the exhibition of the paintings and works of art purchased by Daniel Wadsworth, David Watkinson, James B. Hosmer, and others, "of the late New York Academy of Fine Arts," and several other paintings; besides the "five large paintings of Revolutionary Subjects, done by the late Col. Trumbull, for the purchase of which negotiation is begun." It was also provided that the net proceeds of the exhibition, less six per cent. reserved for the owners of the works, should belong to the Atheneum, to be applied toward the purchase of the pictures, etc.

A "Catalogue of the Paintings now Exhibiting in Wadsworth Gallery, Hartford" (28 pp., 8vo, paper), published in 1844, contains 82 pieces, including two marble busts and one miniature. In it are included, probably, all the works referred to in the vote above mentioned, and some paintings, the property of Daniel Wadsworth, besides. These latter are mentioned in Mr. Wadsworth's will, in the "extracts" quoted in this pamphlet. In the inventory of his estate, after his decease, Mr. Wadsworth's "interest" in the Art Gallery was appraised at $2,000. In 1855, the trustees of the estate conveyed his interest in the works of art, "in said gallery or building," to the corporation for the consideration of $750. Whether this conveyance had reference to any other works than those contained in the bequest, does not appear.

The price asked for the paintings by the New York Academy of Arts (as appears from some correspondence on the subject), was $2,500;

but whether this sum was paid for them is not shown. But a lot containing 53 paintings, 2 pieces of statuary, 10 books, and 17 engravings, was purchased at auction by Alfred Smith, for $1,500; presumably for the Atheneum, for an account of the purchase appears among its papers. Other memoranda show that a subscription was raised in 1855 (?), for the purchase of the works in the gallery, for the benefit of the corporation. It appears that the following sums were subscribed :

By James B. Hosmer,	$1,100	By A. W. Butler,	$100
By David Watkinson,	1,000	By William L. Storrs,	100
By Alfred Smith,	1,000	By Thomas S. Williams,	100
By Joseph Trumbull,	500	By Thomas Smith,	100
By Charles H. Brainard,	150	By R. B. Ward (?),	100
Total, $4,250.

In July, 1855, James B. Hosmer, Alfred Smith, and R. B. Ward, for a nominal consideration, conveyed their respective interests in the "Paintings in the Picture Gallery" to the corporation. The conveyance was upon condition that the Art Gallery be never discontinued, nor the paintings be removed therefrom. At this time, as will be seen below, there were, or had been, 139 pieces in the gallery.

The catalogue of 1844 was largely descriptive. Another one, published in 1851, contains a list of 139 pictures, and the descriptions are omitted. A third one (the latest) was published in 1863. It contains 128 pieces, for while the last number on the list is called No. 139, yet Nos. 96, 108-112, 114, 135, 136, and 138 are wanting; eleven pieces in all. And it also appears, on comparing the Catalogues of 1844 and 1863 with each other, that eleven numbers on the former are not on the latter catalogue; so that, presumably, eleven pieces have been removed from the gallery. On the other hand, some pieces have been added since 1863. A late acquisition, whereof the subject is the Battle of Mobile Bay, is the outcome of private subscriptions.

The descriptive portions of the Catalogue of 1863 seem to be a reprint of those in the Catalogue of 1844.

THE GALLERY OF SCULPTURE.

The basis of the collection of statuary is the series purchased from the estate of Edward S. Bartholomew, deceased. He was a native of Colchester, Conn., and died in Naples, Italy, in May, 1858. He had been in charge of the Wadsworth Gallery from 1845 to 1848; and his earliest efforts in art-work had been given to painting.

There is little in the gallery which is entitled to the name of "Sculpture." Most of the pieces are models, in plaster, from the studies of Mr. Bartholomew, at Rome. There are some busts in marble, the gift of Daniel Wadsworth, and a duplicate, in marble, of Bartholomew's Repentant Eve. The latter was purchased from the Watkinson fund.

In 1858, a subscription was opened to raise a fund of $5,000 for purchasing and transporting hither the Bartholomew models. The following names and amounts appear to have been obtained:

Samuel Colt, $500; Enoch C. Roberts, $200; James B. Hosmer, Thomas S. Williams, and Cheney Brothers, each, $150; Calvin Day, Joseph Trumbull, Timothy M. Allyn, Alfred E. Burr, Simeon L. Loomis, James Goodwin, Sam. S. Ward, William T. Lee, Marshall Jewell, Charles H. Northam, Henry Barnard, Joseph Church, Thos. M. Day, John A. Butler, Chas. H. Brainard, Julius Catlin, Newton Case, Henry M. Keney, Ira Peck, and James G. Batterson, each $100. Seven others subscribed $50 each, and thirty-eight $25 each; making a total of $4,450. Whether the additional sum of $550, required in order to make the proposed amount of $5,000, was raised, does not appear. But, at all events, the models were procured; Mr. Batterson having, as the agent of the subscribers, visited Rome and brought the models thence and deposited them in the Atheneum.

It is not known that any catalogue of these works has been published.

THE WATKINSON LIBRARY.

EXTRACTS FROM THE WILL OF DAVID WATKINSON.

24th. As the Wadsworth Athenaeum in this city needs the further aid of its particular friends as well as the patronage of the public, to establish its interest and usefulness on a more permanent basis, I desire to bear my part in an effort to effect so desirable an object. The pictures now in the Gallery of the institution being, for the most part, the property of individuals and subject to their disposal, and the permanent interests of the institution being incompatible with such a tenure, I propose, in addition to what I have already done, to give to the institution one thousand dollars, provided, and on condition that the pictures known as the Trumbull Pictures, and at least two-thirds (in value) of the other pictures (exclusive of those left for exhibition by non residents), shall by purchase, or other arrangement, become the property of the institution, or other pictures of equal value substituted in their stead. If this be complied with at any time within two years after notice is given to said institution of this my Will, then I authorize and direct my Executors to pay to the Trustees of said Wadsworth Athenaeum the proposed sum of one thousand dollars; but otherwise, this proposal is to be withdrawn and annulled, and my Executors are to proceed in distributing the said one thousand dollars to my relations as directed.

25th. I give and bequeath to the Young Men's Institute of the city of Hartford, one thousand dollars, to be permanently invested in a good note or notes of hand, secured by mortgage on unincumbered real estate, and the interest or income applied to the uses and purposes of said institution.

26th. I give and bequeath to the Connecticut Historical Society in the city of Hartford, one thousand dollars, to be permanently invested in a good note or notes of hand, secured by mortgage on unincumbered real estate, and the interest and income applied to the uses and purposes of said institution.

27th. I give and bequeath in trust to Robert Watkinson, Rev. Thomas H. Gallaudet, Rev. Horace Hooker, Alfred Smith, Esq., Francis Parsons, Esq., Dr. George Sumner, Ezra Clark, Jr., James B. Hosmer, and Alfred Gill, all of said Hartford, or to such of them as shall accept the trust, with authority in case any decline the trust, for the remainder to elect others in their stead, so as, and provided that the Board shall consist of not less than seven members, and to their successors for ever as hereafter provided, the sum of twenty thousand dollars, which I hereby direct the said Trustees and their successors as aforesaid, to loan out on a good note or notes of hand, secured by mortgage on unincumbered real estate, and the interest or income thereof to appropriate towards the support of indigent orphan children, or the children of indigent parents, or whose parents or guardians are either vicious or incompetent to bring them up in virtuous and industrious habits.

Should the design of this legacy not be met in a corresponding spirit, and my expectations be disappointed in regard to the required means being supplied from other sources to complete the maintenance of the children, thus only partially provided for, then the Trustees and their successors as aforesaid are hereby directed to abrogate and withdraw this legacy, and consider it null and void, and thereupon they are to divide the fund so entrusted to them of twenty thousand dollars, proportionally among the ten incorporated institutions before mentioned, according to the amounts of my several bequests to them, viz.:—The American Home Missionary Society of the City of New York, The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, The American Tract Society of the city of New York, The American Bible Society, The American Sunday-school Union, The Retreat for the Insane in Hartford, The East Windsor Institute, The Wadsworth Athenæum, The Young Men's Institute, and The Connecticut Historical Society.

Whereas, I have executed my last Will and Testament, bearing date the 9th day of March, 1849; and whereas, I have also duly executed a Codicil to my said Will, bearing date 15th January, 1850 (denominated Codicil No. 1), and also another Codicil, bearing date the 11th day of April, 1850 (denominated No. 2), and whereas, I wish to make a further addition to my said Will; now, therefore, I do make and execute this Codicil to my said Will (denominated No. 3), which is to be taken as a part of my said Will, and to have equal force and validity therewith, to wit: Whereas, I have in my said Will bequeathed in trust to Robert Watkinson, Rev. Thomas H. Gallaudet, Rev. Horace Hooker, Alfred Smith, Esq., Francis Parsons, Esq., George Sumner, M.D., Ezra Clark, Jr., James B. Hosmer, and Alfred Gill, the sum of twenty thousand dollars, for the support and improvement of indigent orphan and other children, on certain principles therein mentioned; and whereas, I am desirous of extending the benefits contemplated by said bequest; now, therefore, I do bequeath for the same charitable object, in trust, to the same Trustees, the further sum of ten thousand dollars, to be added to and blended with the said former bequest of twenty thousand dollars, making together a total sum of thirty thousand dollars for this special object. — Codicil No. 3, dated 17th July, 1850.

Whereas, in my Will I bequeathed twenty thousand dollars to Trustees therein named for the benefit of indigent orphan and other children, and likewise in Codicil No. 3, I bequeath the further sum of ten thousand dollars, to the same Trustees for the same object: Now I give and bequeath to the same Trustees for the same object, on the same principles, and subject to the same rules, conditions, and contingences, one moiety of what may yet remain of said surplusage, be the same more or less, after paying in full the said two legacies as above directed.

I further direct that a division be made of the other moiety of said surplusage, into twenty-five equal portions, neither more nor less, of which I give and bequeath one portion to each of the five following religious and benevolent institutions, in addition to my former legacies to them in my Will, to wit : The Home Missionary (sic) of the City of New York, The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, The American Tract Society of the City of New York, The American Bible Society, and the American Sunday-school Union, which said portions are to be paid to the Treasurers for the uses and purposes of said institutions respectively.

I also give and bequeath to the five following institutions, in addition to the legacies in my will, to be invested respectively in good bonds and mortgages on unencumbered real estate, and only the interest or income to be annually expended, to wit :

To the Retreat for the Insane, four of said portions.

To the East Windsor Institute, four of said portions.

To the Young Men's Institute, two of said portions.

To the Connecticut Historical Society, two of said portions.

To the Wadsworth Athenaeum Gallery, two of said portions.

Provided, that the said bequest to the Retreat for the Insane shall be appropriated, like the former legacy to that Institution, towards the salary of a chaplain and the endowment of a school in said Institution.

Also, I give and bequeath to the Hartford Arts Union, four of said portions, and to the Connecticut Society of Natural History in Hartford, two of said portions, to be invested respectively in the same manner as the legacies above mentioned, and the interest or income only to be expended. — Codicil No. 4, dated 13th November, 1850.

1st. Whereas in article No. 8, of said Codicil No. 4, I bequeathed the balance of my residuary or surplus estate, if any, to certain Trustees and institutions therein specified; and whereas I design to make, not only further bequest from my general estate before any distribution whatever is made of my residuary estate, but likewise further special bequests from said residuary estate before the final distribution is made of the balance thereof : Now to this end I revoke and annul so much of said article No. 8 as bequeaths the balance of said residuary estate to the Trustees and institutions therein specified, and in lieu thereof, I bequeath to all the same Trustees and institutions named in said article No. 8, to wit : The trustees for the benefit of Indigent Orphan and other children and twelve other divers institutions, to be apportioned among them in like manner and on the same principles and conditions as mentioned therein, such balance only of my residuary or surplus estate as may remain, if any, after paying successively in full, firstly, the legacies in full to pay my nephews and nieces in article No. 7, of said Codicil No. 4; secondly, the legacies in full to Rev. Doctor Joel Hawes and the Rev. Thomas H. Gallaudet in article No. 8, of said Codicil No. 4; thirdly, the legacies in full bequeathed in the following articles; and fourthly, the legacies in full which I may hereafter from time to time bequeath. — Codicil No. 5, dated 5th June, 1851.

Whereas I have executed my last Will and Testament bearing date March Ninth, A. D. 1849, and also annexed sundry Codicils thereto, viz. :—from No. 1 to No. 10. Now, I do hereby declare and establish this instrument as an additional Codicil (No. 11), to my last Will and Testament.

ARTICLE I. Whereas, in my last Will and said Codicils, some or all of them, after giving, devising and bequeathing therein certain definite and specific gifts, devises and bequests, I have directed sundry gifts, devises or bequests to be paid out of the surplus, or residue, or surplusage, or residuary estate, or balance of my residuary estate, or residuum of my estate however described, I do now by this further Codicil, to wit, the Eleventh to said Will, revoke and annul each, all and every of the aforesaid gifts, devises and bequests made payable out of such surplus or residue or surplusage or residuary estate or balance of my residuary estate or residuum, contained in said Will and Testament and ten Codicils or in any or all of them.

ARTICLE II. And whereas in my said Will and Testament and in said Codicils or in some or all of them, I have given, devised and bequeathed certain sums or portions to the East Windsor Institute and to the Retreat for the Insane, to the Young Men's Institute, to the Connecticut Historical Society, to the Wadsworth Athenæum, to the Hartford Arts Union, and to the Connecticut Society of Natural History in Hartford, and to the Home Missionary Society of the City of New York, the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, the American Tract Society of the City of New York, the American Bible Society, and the American Sunday-school Union, to the Widows Society of Hartford, to the Dissenting Church of Lavenham in the County of Suffolk, England, — to be paid out of my residuary estate, I do hereby revoke and annul said gifts, devises, bequests and portions to said Societies and Institutions above specified, and each and every of the same contained in said Will and Codicils or any or either of them, so far as the same are to be paid out of the surplusage of my residuary estate or residuum however described.

ARTICLE III. And whereas in and by said Will and Codicils, I have also given, devised and bequeathed to Trustees therein named, certain sums or portions for the benefit of Indigent Orphan and other children.

I do hereby revoke and annul all said gifts, devises and bequests to said Trustees for the benefit of said Indigent Orphan or other children contained in said Will and Codicils any or either of them, and in place and lieu of said gifts, devises, bequests or portion hereby revoked and annulled, I do now in this further and Eleventh Codicil to my said Will, give and bequeath to my Executors to be by them paid to the same Trustees named, in behalf of said Indigent Orphan and other children, in clauses hereby revoked, and to the survivors and survivor of them, the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), for the same object on the same principles, and subject to the same rules, conditions and contingencies expressed in my Will and Codicils relative to the bequests and legacies annulled and revoked in this article, intending by this bequest in equal proportions, to aid the Hartford Orphan Asylum and the Female Beneficent Society in their united or separate action.

ARTICLE XII. I do also give and bequeath to my Executors, in trust, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), to be by them paid over to Alfred Smith, James B. Hosmer, William L. Storrs, Robert Watkinson, Henry Barnard, second, William R. Cone, James Dixon, George Brinley, Jr., and Thomas H. Seymour, or such of them as shall be living at the time of my decease, together with the Governor of this State, the President of the Connecticut Historical Society, the President of Wadsworth Athenæum, and the President of the Young Men's Institute, the last four for the time being, and ex officio. The above named persons, and the survivors and successors of them, together with such Governor, and Presidents of said Society, Athenæum and Institute, for the time being, are to be a Board of Trustees, for the purpose and with the power of receiving, investing, managing, and from time to time appropriating and applying as herein directed, all moneys given or bequeathed to them in this Codicil, in accordance with the directions herein given and particularly for the purpose of establishing in connexion with the Connecticut Historical Society a Library of Reference, to be accessible at all reasonable hours and times to all citizens and other residents and visitors in the State of Connecticut, under such control, rules, and regulations, as in the judgment of said Trustees, and of their successors, as will best secure the preservation of the books composing such Library, and comport with the general convenience, and also for the other purposes hereinafter specified, and with power to fill any vacancy in their number, whether caused by death, resignation, incapacity, or removal out of the State. And my Will is that as soon after my decease as can reasonably be done, said Trustees do become incorporated under an Act of the General Assembly, or due authority of law, in order to carry out the objects of this bequest as a Corporation, which Corporation shall receive the proceeds of said bequest, and manage and use the same in accordance with my directions in this Codicil.

ARTICLE XIII. The trusts for and upon which the aforesaid property, rights and interests are to be conveyed to said Trustees, and the uses and purposes to which the same shall be devoted, and to which the income thereof shall be applied, are the following :

First. A principal sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) together with the accumulating interest thereon, to aid the Connecticut Historical Society in extending their division of the Wadsworth Athenaeum, or in adding to the rooms of said Society, or otherwise enlarging their accommodations, for said Library of Reference in convenient connexion with the books, manuscripts, and collections of said Historical Society, the plan of such addition, extension, or enlargement of accommodations, being first approved by the Trustees. And should the whole of such principal sum and accumulated interest not be required for building and fitting up such extension, addition or enlargement, then the balance shall constitute a fund to be called the Building Fund, the income of which shall be applied to keeping the premises in proper repair.

Second. A principal sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000), shall be set apart, out of said sum of one hundred thousand dollars, as a Librarian Fund, the income only of which shall be applied to pay the salary of a Librarian, who shall be appointed by the Connecticut Historical Society with the approval of my Trustees and their successors, and of such assistants as shall be needed, provided said Society shall cause or procure to be set apart a like principal sum of fifteen thousand dollars, the income of both which sums, or so much thereof as shall be needful, shall be applied to pay the salary of such Librarian, and the services of such assistants, or, if such Historical Society, instead of procuring said like sum of fifteen thousand dollars as above, shall appropriate and cause to be paid an annual sum of not less than one thousand dollars ($1,000), to be added to the annual income of the first named fifteen thousand dollars set apart as above out of this my bequest, then and in that case both said annual income and said annual one thousand dollars, or so much thereof as shall be needful, shall be applied to the salary and payment of such Librarian and assistants. Should the whole annual income and annual amount above prescribed not be required for the salary and payment of such Librarian and assistants, the surplus may be expended in purchasing a Catalogue, an Annual Report, and other Collections by the Library of Reference and the said Historical Society.

Third. A principal sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) and the accumulating interest thereon, shall be devoted to, and from time to time expended for, the purchase of models, casts, and specimens of art, to be donated to Wadsworth Athenæum, and placed in their Statuary Room.

Fourth. The residue of said sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), and of any other portion of my estate which may become payable and to be paid to the Trustees named in Article XII of this Codicil, shall constitute a Library Fund, the income of which only shall always be applied to the following objects:

1. A yearly sum, not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) in any one year, may be appropriated and applied by said Trustees to the purchase of books for circulation, and be donated to the Library of the Hartford Young Men's Institute, or to some other Library of similar character in the City of Hartford, at the discretion of said Trustees, their successors, etc., provided a sum equal to that appropriated by, and paid out of, this bequest, shall be applied during the same year by the Library receiving the same, to the purchase of other books, approved by the Trustees or a committee by them appointed.

2. A yearly sum, not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) in any one year, may be applied by said Trustees to or towards the purchase of some work or works of art for, and donated to, the Wadsworth Athenæum, provided a further sum equal to that applied out of this bequest shall in the same year be appropriated by the Wadsworth Athenæum for the same or similar purposes.

3. The residue of the net annual income of the Library Fund shall be applied to the purchase of books for a Library of Reference (and not of circulation), to be kept in rooms of, or in convenient connexion with, the Connecticut Historical Society, for consultation, but not to be removed therefrom except on the written permission of the Trustees, designated in Article XII of this Codicil, or their successors.

ARTICLE XIV. The following conditions are to be observed in relation to the investment, management, and account of the Library Funds hereby instituted.

1. All moneys received as principal are to be invested as speedily as may be consistent with safety in permanent securities.

2. All permanent investments are to be made in bonds and mortgages, on unencumbered real estate, of twice the value of the amount loaned, or in stocks of the United States, or of the State of New York or of Massachusetts or Connecticut, or in the bonds or stocks of the City of Hartford or of New Haven, or New York, or Boston, or in such other securities as shall be authorized by the Judge of Probate for the Probate District of Hartford.

3. The securities which may be conveyed to the Trustees, and all investments and change of investments, all payments of principal and interest, and all expenditures on account of this trust, shall be entered in a book or books, in which shall also be entered a printed copy of this portion of my Will, together with a printed copy of any act of incorporation under which said Trustees shall become organized, and of the by-laws which may from time to time be adopted by the Trustees or their successors, for their government. An annual report of the condition of the Fund and Library shall be published for the information of the public. And a catalogue shall be prepared and published from time to time to make the contents of the Library available to persons resorting thereto.

ARTICLE XIX. In the event of any surplus and remainder of my property after all gifts, legacies and bequests provided for in my last Will and Codicils, including this eleventh Codicil, and all legal charges on the settlement of my estate are discharged, I do hereby give and bequeath the surplus and residuary estate to my Executors to be by them paid over and conveyed to the Trustees created by Article XII of this present eleventh Codicil, for the management of the one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) hereinbefore given for a Reference Library, etc., in trust, for the same uses and purposes, and to be managed and applied in the same manner as is herein provided in respect to said one hundred thousand dollars. — Codicil No. 11, dated 10th October, 1855.

ARTICLE V. After paying in full all my bequests aforesaid, if a surplus or residuum of my estate should still remain, my Will is, to have one half of such surplus paid over to my Trustees, designated in Article twelve of my eleventh Codicil, for the purposes of said Library of Reference; and the other half of said surplus paid over to my Trustees designated in Article V of the same eleventh Codicil, the latter half to be applied by them to any one or more of the several objects entrusted to the latter Trustees, and in such proportions among them as they shall think best. And I empower both or either of the Board of Trustees above referred to, to expend the whole or any part of the principal sum of this surplus (if there be one) for the objects intended, or to invest the same, or any part thereof, for future income for said objects, according to their judgment of what is best.

ARTICLE VII. If the Trustees designated in Article XII of my eleventh Codicil, think it desirable and expedient to acquire books for the Library of Reference, and to pay for them out of the principal sum of my bequest to them, I authorize them to use and expend for that purpose, any amount, not exceeding ten thousand dollars, or any larger sum, provided it shall not exceed in the whole, twenty per cent. of the principal sum which shall come to their possession or control from my bequest to them. But if contrary to my wish and expectation, the whole amount bequeathed to said Trustees shall prove to be less than one hundred thousand dollars, then the sums that may be expended for books out of the principal of such bequests are to be proportionally reduced.

ARTICLE VIII. I hereby add to the Trustees of the Library of Reference, designated in Article XII of my eleventh Codicil, Ezra Clark, senior, and Alfred Gill, James H. Wells, and Edward B. Watkinson, and the President of Trinity College for the time being. — Codicil No. 12, dated 17th October, 1855.

ARTICLE XI. As to any legacy, legacies or surplusages that shall revert or come back to my estate, my will is, that they be added to and form part of the residuum or surplus of my estate, and be paid over to the Trustees named or designated in Article fifth, of my twelfth Codicil, to be used and appropriated as directed in said Article fifth of Codicil XII. — Codicil No. 13, dated 22d April, 1856.

ARTICLE VII. By request of Alfred Watkinson, I hereby annul his appointment in my Will as Trustee for the three children of my late brother William, and I appoint George M. Bartholomew, to be in his stead my Trustee for said children.

I also appoint and add said Bartholomew to be one of the Trustees for The Hartford Library of Reference, The Hartford Hospital, and for The Juvenile Asylum and Farm School, all mentioned in Codicils to my Will.

ARTICLE VIII. And whereas great fluctuations and depreciations have taken place in sundry portions of my estate, I hereby declare, and my will is, that if my estate shall not be sufficient to pay in full all the gifts, legacies, bequests and devises, contained or specified in my Will and Codicils, then there shall be deducted ratably from each of my gifts, bequests or legacies, to, or to Trustees for the use or benefit of all persons related by blood to me or to my late wife, so much as shall be needful to admit of paying in full my bequests or devises now in force to all other Trustees or persons for the benefit of the Hartford Hospital, Library of Reference, and other persons, societies, or institutions, mentioned in my Will or Codicils.

Provided, that not more than thirty per cent. shall be deducted for the above purpose from my bequests to, or for, the benefit of the said relatives of myself and my late wife, and that nothing be deducted from any legacy or bequest which does not exceed three hundred dollars in amount.

ARTICLE IX. If the above reduction of thirty per cent. from legacies to relations shall not leave sufficient estate to pay and make good the amounts bequeathed to or for the use of the Hartford Hospital, and all other Corporations, Trustees, Institutions, and Societies, then my Will is that my bequest of forty thousand dollars shall be fully paid to said Hartford Hospital; and the other corporations, Trustees, Institutions and Societies, shall be proportionally reduced. — Codicil No. 15, dated 23d October, 1857.

NOTE. — Mr. Watkinson died Dec. 13, 1857, and the will was probated on the 17th of the same month. It was published, in full, as a pamphlet, in 1858; and it is from the pamphlet that the foregoing extracts are taken. Parts of codicils 11, 12, and 15 were also printed in a pamphlet published by the Watkinson Library in 1859; but not so much as is herein contained.

A memoir of Mr. Watkinson was read by Henry Barnard, LL.D., before the Connecticut Historical Society, Feb. 2, 1858, and a part of said memoir was published with the pamphlet of that year above mentioned.

INCORPORATING THE TRUSTEES OF THE WATKINSON LIBRARY.

WHEREAS, The late David Watkinson, of Hartford, by his last will and testament and codicils thereto, since duly proved and approved, created a board of trustees, consisting of Alfred Smith, James B. Hosmer, William L. Storrs, Robert Watkinson, Henry Barnard, 2d, William R. Cone, James Dixon, George Brinley, Jr., Thomas H. Seymour, Ezra Clark, Sen., Alfred Gill, James H. Wells, Edward B. Watkinson, and George M. Bartholomew, or such of them as should be living at the time of his decease, together with the Governor of the State, the President of the Connecticut Historical Society, the President of the Wadsworth Athenaeum, the President of the Hartford Young Men's Institute, and the President of Trinity College, the last five for the time being, and ex officio; which persons above named, and the survivors and successors of them, together with such Governor and presidents, were by said will and codicils created and declared to be a board of trustees, for the purpose and with the power of receiving, investing, managing, and from time to time appropriating and applying as therein directed, all moneys given or bequeathed to them in said will and codicils, in accordance with the directions therein given, particularly for the purpose of establishing, in connection with the Connecticut-Historical Society, a library of reference, to be accessible, at all reasonable hours and times, to all citizens and other residents and visitors in the State of Connecticut, under such control, rules and regulations as in the judgment of said trustees and their successors will best secure the preservation of the books composing said library, and comport with the general convenience; and also for purposes thereafter specified; and with power to fill any vacancy in their number, whether caused by death, resignation, incapacity, or removal out of the State; also in the same codicil directing, that as soon after his, the said testator's, decease as can reasonably be done, said trustees do become incorporated, under an act of the General Assembly, or due authority of law, in order to carry out the objects of said bequest, and to manage and use the same in accordance with his directions in said codicil.

And whereas, by several of the codicils relating to said library of reference, said Watkinson bequeathed to his executors in trust for said trustees, a sum or sums of money, the amount of which cannot be determined or ascertained until a sale of said testator's property and a settlement of his estate shall be duly made, and also gave sundry directions or permissions to the trustees to apply the sums bequeathed, to the objects of enlarging the accommodations of the said Historical Society, or adding to their rooms, for said library of reference; of a librarian fund; of purchasing models, casts, and specimens of art, to be donated to the Wadsworth Athenæum; of purchasing, to a limited amount, out of the principal sum of said bequest, books for said library of reference; and of constituting a library fund, the income of which only to be applied for the purposes specified in said codicil or codicils; together with sundry directions therein as to making investments, keeping accounts of payments and expenditures, publishing an annual report for the information of the public, and preparing and publishing, from time to time, a catalogue of said library, and other provisions, as set forth in said will and codicils, or any of them, a printed copy whereof is here present, to be kept on file in the office of the Secretary of State, to which reference may and is to be had; therefore, and be contracted with, have, use, and at pleasure alter a common seal, be known in all courts and other places, and do all acts and things proper to such trustees.

SEC. 2. Said trustees shall and may receive from the executors of said will and the codicils to the same, all such moneys or other things bequeathed to or intended for said trustees by the testator, or as shall be donated to them by others; shall hold, invest, manage, apply, and appropriate, all such moneys or other things; shall keep accounts, publish reports or statements, fill vacancies, make rules, regulations, and by-laws, and do all other lawful acts and things necessary or expedient to carry out the objects of said bequest, in accordance with the true intent and meaning of said testator. Said trustees shall have power to choose a president, a secretary or secretaries, a treasurer, and such other officers as they shall find necessary or expedient; to unite with the said Historical Society in providing rooms for the library of reference and appointing a librarian, and in all other things necessary or expedient, and all in accordance with the will, codicils, and intention of said testator; also, to determine the times and places of all stated or special meetings of said trustees, and the notice that shall be given of holding the same, and in general, to determine, by votes or by-laws, all matters relative to the mode and manner of carrying out the intentions of said testator, in accordance with said will and codicils.

SEC. 3. The funds, property, and estate which may be granted to or held by said corporation for the uses above specified, shall, with the income thereof, be exempt from taxation.

SEC. 4. This act may be altered, amended, or repealed at the pleasure of the general assembly.

Approved June 8, 1858. — [Private Acts, May session, 1858.]

NOTE. — It will be seen that James H. Wells, who had been named by Mr. Watkinson as one of the Trustees, had died before the passage of the Act of incorporation; and therefore his name is not included among the charter members.

S. W. A.

AMENDING THE CHARTER OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE WATKINSON LIBRARY.

Resolved by this Assembly: The Trustees of the Watkinson Library are authorized to fill any vacancy in their board by electing as one of said trustees the Mayor of the City of Hartford, for the time being, and ex officio; anything in the charter of said trustees to the contrary notwithstanding.

Approved, March 8, 1882. — [Private Acts, 1882, p. 370.]

[STATEMENT OF J. HAMMOND TRUMBULL, LL.D., LIBRARIAN.]

WATKINSON LIBRARY OF REFERENCE,

HARTFORD, CONN., April 12, 1876.

DR. E. K. HUNT, Commissioner, &c.

My Dear Sir: In compliance with your request, I give the following brief account of the Watkinson Library, in its relations to other agencies of public instruction in this city.

Its honored founder, Mr. David Watkinson, a merchant of Hartford, who died in 1857, bequeathed to trustees $100,000 and a co-residuary interest in his estate "for the purpose of establishing, in connection with the Connecticut Historical Society, a Library of Reference, to be accessible at all reasonable hours and times to all citizens, and other residents, and visitors in the State of Connecticut." The trustees named by the will were incorporated by an act of legislature in May, 1858. A building was erected, adjacent to and directly communicating with the main hall of the Historical Society, and by the purchase of the Wadsworth mansion and grounds, adjoining the site of the new building, ample provision was made for the future enlargement of the library. The present librarian was appointed in 1862, and the purchase of books was begun the same year. At the date of the last annual report, Dec. 14, 1875, the whole number of volumes in the library was 26,788. The total amount expended for books to that date was $63,143.58. In the course of settlement of Mr. Watkinson's estate, payments made by the executors, on account of the residuary interest, have increased the library fund to $117,612.77. The annual appropriation for the purchase of books is about $5,000.

The Connecticut Historical Society has a central and convenient location, on Main Street, in the south wing of the Wadsworth Athenæum. The central division of the Athenæum is appropriated, under the trust deed of the founder, Mr. Daniel Wadsworth, to a Gallery of Fine Arts; and the north wing, to the library and reading rooms of the Young Men's Institute. The Historical Society's library now contains about 16,000 volumes, exclusive of the Society's large and very valuable collection of manuscripts, bound and unbound. The library of the Institute is maintained by annual subscriptions of the members as a circulating library. Mr. Watkinson authorized his trustees to appropriate $500, yearly, from the income of the Watkinson Library fund, to the purchase of books for the library of the Institute, and this appropriation has been regularly made since 1861. He authorized also the annual appropriation of $500 to the purchase of works of art for the gallery of the Athenæum.

For purposes of consultation, the Watkinson and the Historical Society's libraries are virtually one, with an aggregate of about 43,000 volumes designed for reference, and are supplemented by the Institute library of circulation, now increased, by favor of Mr. Watkinson's bequest and generous donations by other citizens, to about 26,000 volumes.

In the general plan of the Watkinson Library, the trustees aimed to give effect to the obvious intention of the founder, in making provision for a library which should be — not merely by its location — "accessible to all citizens and other residents of Connecticut." The selection of books has been made with a constant regard to practical value and general utility, rather than to rarity or to the amusement of visitors. The library has been considered as, in the highest sense, an educational agency; and the expenditure of the annual appropriations has been directed to the purchase of such books as seemed most likely to be useful to the greater number of readers. The proximity of the State Library has relieved the trustees of the necessity of providing works of reference on law and legislation; and Trinity College library, conveniently accessible, provides for the wants of other classes of professional students.

In avoiding exclusiveness, the trustees have endeavored not to fall into the opposite error of too great comprehensiveness, by attempting to cover, with their limited income, the illimitable area of human knowledge.

Undue expansion, in shallows, is an evil to be guarded against, as well as undue contraction, in channels too narrow for general use. Here as in all else, the wants of citizens and residents have been had in view. Some departments must necessarily remain deficient, that others may be made approximately complete.

In helps to reading, comprising the works commonly denominated "books of reference"—encyclopedias, dictionaries, gazetteers, etc.,—the library, as compared with other American libraries, is well supplied. In bibliography,—books about books,—to working readers, one of the most important departments of a reference library, there are already about 2,000 volumes. With special reference to the business interests of Hartford, the collection of books on Political Economy, Trade, Finance, Currency, Insurance, and on all departments of Social Science, is very considerable. In the Arts and Sciences, and particularly in the useful Arts and applied Sciences, the Watkinson Library is perhaps as well furnished as any other public library of the same number of volumes in this country. Particular attention has been given to the growth of the departments of general history; the history of Europe; general and local history of Great Britain; the history of religions, and comparative mythology; the English language, its origin and proximate relations, its early literature, and its classics; and the classics of German, French, Spanish, and Italian literature.

While the Watkinson Library offers to all classes advantages for the prosecution of special studies as well as for the acquisition of general information, it has thus far been most used by those connected with the various educational institutions. The professors and students of Trinity College, the instructors of public and private schools and their more advanced pupils, are the most frequent visitors at the Library. It seems already to have established its place among—and is entitled to be regarded as—one of the free schools of our city.

I am, my dear Sir, very truly yours,

J. HAMMOND TRUMBULL,

Librarian (and a Trustee) of the Watkinson Library.

NOTE.—The annual report of the Treasurer of the Watkinson Library, for 1888, shows that the funds of the corporation then amounted to $84,068.92; and the real estate was estimated at $16,782.46; making a total of assets (exclusive of the library, etc.) of $100,851.38. Of this, a portion, $3,319.23, had accrued from the bequest of the late Mr. Sydney Stanley, who, dying in 1878, had left the sum of about $7,000 to the library.

The librarian's report of the same date shows that the whole number of "registered" volumes then in the library was 42,521; being an increase of 369 volumes over the number in the preceding year. There had been expended for the Watkinson Library from the beginning, $92,525.33, and for the Hartford Library Association, $12,000.

VI. THE CONNECTICUT SOCIETY OF NATURAL HISTORY.

INCORPORATING THE CONNECTICUT SOCIETY OF NATURAL HISTORY.—
PASSED 1845.

Resolved by this Assembly, That Charles H. Olmsted, John L. Comstock, Phillip Ripley, Joseph Monds, William W. Turner, Henry W. Terry, and those who are or may be hereafter associated with them, shall be and remain a body politic and corporate by the name of The Connecticut Society of Natural History; and by that name shall be capable of suing and being sued, pleading and being impleaded, may have a common seal and alter the same at pleasure, may purchase, receive, hold and convey any estate real or personal, not exceeding five thousand dollars, and may establish such by-laws and regulations as may be necessary or convenient, not inconsistent with the laws of this State.

Provided, that this resolve may at any time be altered, amended or repealed at the pleasure of the general assembly.— [Private Acts, 1845.]

Note.—This Society was organized as early as October 8, 1835; at which date it was entitled “The Natural History Society of Hartford.” The Rev. Samuel Farmer Jarvis, D.D., LL.D., then a Professor in Washington (now Trinity) College, was its first President, and the late Erastus Smith was its Corresponding Secretary. In May, 1836, Dr. Jarvis delivered an Address before the Society, which was published the same year, in a pamphlet of 64 pages, octavo. The same Address was later repeated at Wesleyan University. He was a native of Middletown, Conn., and a son of Bishop Abraham Jarvis. He died at Middletown, in 1851, aged 65 years, having achieved a high reputation as a scholar and author.

Prior to the organization of this Society there had existed a collection of “paintings, waxwork, natural and artificial curiosities,” constituting “Steward’s Museum,” first exhibited in the State House, in 1801. In 1819 (according to Pease and Niles’ Gazetteer) it was known as The Hartford Museum, and was kept on Main Street, “nearly opposite the Episcopal Church.” In 1825 it was kept by Charles Dickerson, “at No. 3 Central Row, up stairs.” (See Norton’s Register, for that year.) It is understood that some of the specimens illustrative of natural history from this Museum were transferred to the rooms of the Natural History Society of Hartford, and thus became a part of the collection of the Society incorporated as above.

The collections of this Society must have been placed in the Athenæum building very soon after the completion of the latter. Geer’s Directory for 1847, says: “The Natural History Society, with very handsome collections, occupy a large room in the first story of the south division of the Athenæum." By the terms of the Act incorporating Wadsworth Athenæum "The Natural History Society of Hartford" was permitted to occupy the part of the building assigned to it "on such terms, and to such extent" as the Historical Society should "think proper." In fact, the occupancy continued until about 1873, when, upon notice from the Historical Society, the collections were nearly all removed and stored in the Hartford Hospital, where, with the exception of such as have been transferred to Trinity College, they remain to day.

The Connecticut Society of Natural History was the same institution, when incorporated, which had existed as a voluntary association (with a slightly different name) since 1835. Mr. Charles H. Olmsted, President prior to the incorporation, continued to hold the same office for several years after. Whether the Charter has become forfeit by non user it is not necessary now to determine. The late Dr. George B. Hawley was the latest known Recording Secretary, and may be presumed to have left the records of the Society among his effects; but whether those records are now extant we are not informed.

The officers, as far as ascertainable, were as follows:

Presidents.

Samuel F. Jarvis, LL.D., 1835-1840.
Charles H. Olmsted, 1841-1853.
William W. Turner, 1853-1873.

Recording Secretaries.

Erastus Smith, 1835-1843.
Henry W. Terry, 1844-1846.
Erastus Smith, 1847-1853.
William R. Lawrence, 1854-1856.
John C. Comstock, 1857-1858.
George B. Hawley, M.D., 1859-1873.

The latest published list of its officers, that of 1872, was as follows:

President—William W. Turner.

Vice-Presidents—Henry W. Terry, John S. Butler, and John Brocklesby.

Corresponding Secretary—A. W. Barrows.

Recording Secretary—George B. Hawley.

Treasurer—George B. Hawley.

Librarian—Gurdon W. Russell.

Curator of Ichthyology—Charles H. Olmsted.

Curator of Ornithology—S. G. Moses.

Curator of Botany—John P. Brace.

Curator of Conchology—William W. Turner.

Curator of Comparative Anatomy—E. K. Hunt.

A kindred organization, The Hartford Society of Natural Sciences, was incorporated in 1885, of which Gurdon W. Russell, M.D., was chosen President. What is its present condition is not known to the writer.

Parker, Frank L. Burr, Charles Dudley Warner, and Henry C. Robinson, all of Hartford, together with all persons who are members of the voluntary association known as The Art Society of Hartford, now located in said Hartford, and such other persons as may hereafter be associated with them, and their successors, be and they are hereby constituted and made a body politic and corporate by the name of The Art Society of Hartford, under their present constitution and by-laws, with power to amend said constitution and by-laws, and make and establish such other by-laws, rules, and regulations as they shall deem expedient for the management of the concerns of said corporation, and the same to alter and repeal at pleasure; provided always, that such constitution, by-laws, rules, and regulations be not inconsistent with the laws of this state, or of the United States.

SEC. 2. Approved, March 12, 1886. [Special Acts, 1886.]

Note. — Not only by virtue of the foregoing Act of Incorporation, but also pursuant to an amendment to the Charter of Wadsworth Athenæum, passed in 1889 (see p. 43, ante), the Art Society has become one of the occupants of the Athenæum building. By an arrangement made with the Trustees of the Athenæum the Art Society assumes the care of the Art Galleries there, and in consideration thereof said Galleries are opened to the public, free of any charge for admission thereto, on certain days of the week. On other days instruction is given there to students in drawing, painting, and sculpture.

The Society is said to have been first organized as a voluntary association in 1877; but it does not appear in the Hartford City Directory until 1885, at which date Miss Mary D. Ely was its President, and Miss Mary L. Collins was its Recording Secretary. Its entire board of officers was composed of ladies.

At present the officers are as follows:

President — Mary D. Ely.

Recording Secretary — Mary L. Collins.

Treasurer — Mrs. F. G. Whitmore.

Vice-Presidents — Alice Taintor and Mrs. Geo. A. Jones.

Corresponding Secretary — Miss H. D. Andrews.

Managers — Mrs. W. H. Palmer, Mrs. J. A. Hodge, Mrs. J. B. Cone, Mrs. E. S. Tyler, Miss C. M. Ely, Miss J. Hunt, Miss Mary F. Collins, Mrs. F. W. Cheney, Mrs. John M. Taylor, Miss M. C. Root, Mrs. T. W. Russell, Mrs. William Thompson, Miss Julia Brace, Miss M. D. Ely, Mrs. F. G. Whitmore, Miss Alice Taintor, Miss M. L. Collins, Mrs. Geo. A. Jones, Miss H. D. Andrews.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEES
OF
WADSWORTH ATHENÆUM, THE CONN. HISTORICAL SOCIETY, THE HARTFORD LIBRARY ASSO-CIATION, AND THE TRUSTEES OF THE WATKINSON LIBRARY.

The committees appointed by the Stockholders of Wadsworth Athenæum, the Connecticut Historical Society, the Trustees of the Watkinson Library, and the Hartford Library Association, to consider plans for alterations in the Wadsworth Athenæum building, with a view to the union of the four institutions named, for establishing a Free Public Library and Art Gallery, submit the following statement and report:

Each of these institutions is incorporated under a special charter, and holds real and personal property in trust, for specific uses. The obstacles to absolute union of the four corporations in one, by surrender or merger of the several charters, are obvious, and your Committees have not been authorized to consider either the practicability or the expediency of such a union: but they are unanimously of the opinion that a more intimate connection of the institutions they represent, for the purpose of establishing a free public library of reference and circulation and a free art gallery, if practicable, would greatly promote the public good and the ends for which these institutions were severally founded and endowed.

Before suggesting a mode of effecting this connection, and considering proposed plans for alterations of the buildings, it may be well to state, briefly, the existing relations of the several institutions to each other and to the public.

The Stockholders of Wadsworth Athenæum hold, under the trust deed of the late Daniel Wadsworth, the land and building occupied by the Art Gallery, the Connecticut Historical Society, and the Hartford Library Association: and they also own the paintings and statuary now in the Art Gallery, their property being represented by stock of the nominal value of $29,700. They have a very small fund at their disposal, and its annual income, with the addition of receipts from visitors, has not, for several years past, sufficed to meet the expenses; and the gallery could not have been kept open to the public without the help of occasional subscriptions by stockholders.

The Connecticut Historical Society, incorporated in 1825, holds, under the trust deed of Mr. Wadsworth before mentioned, the south division of the Athenæum building and the land east of it on which the building occupied by the Watkinson Library stands. The society has a library of more than 20,000 titles, comprising many rare volumes and tracts relating to American history (especially the history of Connecticut) and a large and highly important collection of manuscripts; a museum of objects of historical, ethnological, and antiquarian interest; and a considerable collection of portraits. The hall is open to all visitors, and the use of the Society's library is allowed, under ordinary restrictions, to the public. The funds of the society—including a publication fund of about $3,000—now amount to about $16,000, the income of which, with strict economy, the help of occasional subscriptions for special purposes, and the payment of annual assessments (by a few of the members) has sufficed to meet current expenses and the cost of publishing two volumes of collection—though without supplying means for adding to the library, or for properly arranging its books and manuscripts.

The Hartford Library Association, incorporated (as the Young Men's Institute) in 1839, has, under Mr. Wadsworth's deed of trust, the use, free of rent, of the north division of the Wadsworth Athenæum. The Association has a library of about 33,000 volumes, and its reading-room is well supplied with newspapers, magazines, and reviews. It has a fund of about $19,000, principally derived from gifts and bequests. Its receipts from fees of membership, etc., were, for the year ending June 1, 1883, $2,556. Since 1863, the library has received from the Trustees of the Watkinson Library, in accordance with a provision of Mr. Watkinson's will, an annual gift of books to the value of $500. The accessions to the library from this source now represent a total value of $11,000, in books selected principally with reference to their permanent usefulness and interest.

The Watkinson Library was founded and endowed by the late Mr. David Watkinson, who died in 1857. He bequeathed to trustees the sum of $100,000, with a co-residuary interest in his estate, "for the purpose of establishing in connection with the Connecticut Historical Society a Library of Reference, to be accessible at all reasonable hours and times to all citizens and other residents and visitors in the State of Connecticut." The trustees named by Mr. Watkinson were incorporated in 1858. The library was opened to the public Aug. 28, 1866, with about 12,000 volumes. It now contains upwards of 36,000 volumes. The total amount expended for books, to December, 1882, was $83,673, not including the payments of $11,000 by annual grants to the Hartford Library Association. The invested funds, from the bequest of the founder, at the date of the last annual report amounted to $102,485.76; to which is to be added the Sydney Stanley fund, of $6,361.26, derived from the estate of the late Sydney Stanley, bequeathed to the Trustees, for the increase of the library. By the will of the late Mr. George Brinley, President of the board of Trustees, the library received a gift of books from his collection, to the value of $5,000.

To provide for the "convenient connection" of the Library of Reference with that of the Historical Society, Mr. Watkinson bequeathed to that society, from the library fund, $5,000, "to aid in extending their division of the Wadsworth Athenæum," or "otherwise enlarging their accommodations for said Library of Reference," etc. By mutual agreement, this sum was expended on the building now occupied by the Watkinson Library, the Historical Society reserving their prior right to the use of a part or all the new building, and the Trustees of the Watkinson Library agreeing to vacate it, on the payment by the Historical Society of an equal amount towards the cost of another building. Both libraries have already outgrown the accommodations thus provided. The Watkinson Library now contains about 10,000 volumes more than the original estimate of the capacity of the building: and should the Historical Society insist on their right to use the upper hall, or part of it, to relieve their own overcrowded shelves and cabinets, thousands of volumes in the Watkinson Library must be packed in cases or piled on the floors. The erection of a new and larger building cannot much longer be postponed, without culpable disregard of the obligations imposed by the creation of this noble trust. Fortunately, this necessity was foreseen by the Trustees, and provision was made for it by the purchase of the Wadsworth property, adjoining the land of the Athenæum on the east and with a frontage on Prospect Street.

So far as concerns the city of Hartford and the general public, these four institutions — occupying contiguous halls and, substantially, under one roof, — constitute, collectively, one public library of reference and circulation, with an associated gallery of paintings and sculpture and a museum of historical and antiquarian curiosities: all founded and endowed by the liberality of private citizens, and sustained for many years by the untiring effort of those charged with the management of the several trusts — hitherto, without cost to the city or State.

The present value of the property so dedicated to public use cannot be accurately determined: but your Committees believe that it cannot be less than — and that it may considerably exceed — the total shown by the following estimate :

How may these four institutions be so united, under one general management — yet without surrender of their corporate existence and privileges — as to constitute in fact and name a FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY of circulation as well as for reference, and connected with a free Art Gallery? is the question your Committees have to consider. The action of the city, in asking, and of the General Assembly at its last session, in granting authority to provide by a city tax, for the expenses of establishing and maintaining such a library and gallery, makes the answer to this question less difficult than it seemed when your Committees were first appointed to consider it.

To effect the proposed union, it will, in the opinion of your Committees, be necessary, —

1. To make such alterations in the Athenæum building as will provide enlarged accommodation for the department of circulation or lending library, represented by the Hartford Library Association, and to construct a new building for the Watkinson Library of Reference.

2. To transfer the present Watkinson Library building to the Connecticut Historical Society, and to provide for the repayment by that society, or in their behalf, of the sum (about $5,000) received from the Watkinson Fund.

Plans for the proposed alterations and for a new building have been procured by the Trustees of the Watkinson Library. The plan for alterations, which in its general features meets the approval of your Committees, may be briefly described as follows: (1) The whole lower floor of the Athenæum building is to be arranged for the accommodation of the Hartford Library Association, as the lending library and reading-room of the Public Library; easy communication between the three divisions of the building being provided for, and increased space for alcoves and library use being gained by removal of partitions in the north and south wings, and reconstruction of the stair-case in the central division: (2) Similar communications to be effected between the three divisions of the second story, the whole of which is to be devoted to the Gallery of Art and the Historical Museum.

3. Before taking any steps towards making these or other alterations, it is necessary to obtain not only the consent of all the institutions interested in the building, but (1) the surrender by the stockholders of Wadsworth Athenæum of their art gallery to public use, and (2) the relinquishment by the Hartford Library Association of their exclusive right of use of that library.

4. It is also necessary that the associated institutions should agree to entrust the general direction of the Public Library and Gallery to a board of managers, in which board each of the institutions may be represented.

The direction and control of the Watkinson Library must necessarily remain with the board of Trustees appointed under the will of the founder. Of this board the Governor of the State of Connecticut, the President of the Connecticut Historical Society, the President of Wadsworth Athenæum, the President of the Hartford Library Association, the President of Trinity College, and the Mayor of the city of Hartford, are, ex officio, members. To these Trustees, with such addition to their number as may be determined on, the management of the Public Library may properly be committed. But the Hartford Library Association, when consenting to surrender to public use its large and valuable library and the income of its funds, has a right to insist that the control of these funds remain with the association or its representatives, and that the income shall not be expended without their consent. The Committees suggest that the name and corporate existence of the Association may be perpetuated by the incorporation of a board of trustees to be elected by the members of the Association for the present year, to be known as Trustees of the Hartford Library Association: and from this board two of their number may be associated with the trustees of the Watkinson Library, in a general board of managers of the Public Library.

More important than details of organization — which may be left for future consideration and mutual agreement — are the questions, what will be the cost of establishing and the annual expense of maintaining the free library and gallery, and how is the money to be provided?

The cost of the proposed alterations of the building and of a new library building to contain at least 100,000 volumes, in accordance with the plans laid before your Committees, cannot safely be estimated at less than $75,000. For this we must appeal, in the first instance, to the liberality of the citizens of Hartford, and past experience has shown that the appeal will not be made in vain. That the institutions we represent are the trustees of nearly half a million of dollars, the gift of private citizens to the city, is the best possible evidence that we shall not be left without the means of making this great educational agency a FREE SCHOOL of science, literature, and art.

The annual expenses paid by the four associated institutions are now about $8,000. If the Hartford Library Association is opened to the public as a free lending library, the cost of its management and supervision and other contingent expenses would be nearly or quite doubled: and the same result would follow the free opening of the Art Gallery. For the reference libraries, the ratio of increase would be less. For the next five years, the annual expenses of the proposed free library and gallery, in all departments, may be estimated at from $12,000 to $15,000. To defray these expenses — so that the entire income of the funds now held by the four institutions (and of such additional funds as may come by gifts or bequests) may be appropriated to the increase of the library and gallery — we must ask the help of the city: and your Committees recommend that application be made to the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council, to exercise the power lately conferred by the General Assembly of laying a tax of one fifth of a mill on the grand list of the city, for establishing and maintaining the proposed free library and gallery of Art. If this aid is granted, your Committees believe that our citizens will be much encouraged thereby to make liberal subscriptions toward the cost of alterations of the Athenæum and of a new building, and the grant would be regarded as an assurance that the city will continue to give its aid from year to year to the support of an institution established for the public good and dedicated to public use.

In view of the facts and suggestions that have been presented, your Committees finally recommend:

1. That committees be appointed by each of the four incorporated institutions here represented, to draw up articles of association and mutual agreement for establishing the Free Public Library, substantially on the plan herein indicated; and conditioned on the continued aid of the city, by an annual tax; and that these articles of agreement, if approved and adopted by the several corporations, shall be by them jointly executed.

2. That a committee to consider the plan for alterations of the building and to procure estimates thereon, and a committee to solicit subscriptions for effecting these alterations and for the new building, shall be appointed; one member of each committee to be designated by each of the four associated institutions.

3. That the Presidents of the four institutions be constituted a joint committee to petition the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council, to lay a tax for the establishment of the Public Library and Art Gallery.

Note.—The foregoing Report was prepared by the Hon. J. Hammond Trumbull, the Chairman of the Joint Committee. It was accepted, and substantially adopted, by the several organizations concerned. Ultimate action thereon was not completed, and the project of a closer union, under a common board of managers, is still pending, with the hope and some probability, that it will result in an accumulation of funds sufficient to maintain an institution which shall be a source of pride and great public benefit, especially to the citizens of Hartford.

ADDENDA.

THE HARTFORD LIBRARY COMPANY.

It appears, from the annual report of the Hartford Young Men's Institute, published in 1846, that of the one hundred and sixty-three life members of that organization then in being, thirty-one were such by virtue of having been shareholders of the old Hartford Library Company. This is the first clue we get as to the number of those shareholders, when the Library Company became defunct. At the same date (1846), there were forty-eight "Atheneum" members of the Institute, and eighty-four life members of the Institute proper.

In 1849, the Institute report gives the names of the then surviving members of the Hartford Library Company. They were:

Thomas K. Brace,	Thomas C. Perkins,
Joab Brace,	Rector of Christ Church,
Amariah Brigham,	Samuel Root,
Daniel Buck,	Harvey Seymour,
Thomas M. Day,	Erastus Smith,
John E. Edwards,	Elizabeth and Helena Talcott,
William W. Ellsworth,	Elphalet Terry,
William D. and Richard S. Ely,	Isaac Toucey,
Elizur Goodrich, Jr.,	John Warburton,
Austin Kilbourn,	James H. Wells,
Laura Kingsbury,	Thomas S. Williams.
John Olmsted,

Total, 23 Stockholders.

By comparing the foregoing list with that of the charter members of said company, it will be seen that no one of the names in the former is contained in the latter; but some of the shareholders of 1849 will be reorganized as children, or heirs of charter members. Of these successors of 1849, it is not known that more than two, Thomas M. Day and Richard S. Ely, are alive to-day.

If the foregoing announcements of lectures, as originally published in advance, were all performed—and if an addition thereof, which the writer has made, be correct—then the whole number of lecturers who appeared in Hartford, under the auspices of the Young Men's Institute, was one hundred and sixty; and the lectures given reach the astonishing number of three hundred and fifty-eight. In addition to these, a number of concerts, operatic, and other entertainments were given under the same management during the later years of the foregoing series.

THE HARTFORD ARTS UNION.

It has been suggested to the writer that the organization having the above title was in some way connected with the Young Men's Institute; but a somewhat careful investigation, which he has made, fails to establish such a fact. The Hartford Arts Union, organized in 1849, and incorporated in 1851, was rather a rival than a coadjutor of the Institute. Its rooms and library were under the American Hall, and its principal operations were limited to the production of an annual series of public lectures. Some account of these would be interesting, but it would not fall within the scope of the present undertaking. The organization was maintained until 1861, when it seems to have become dissolved.

THE HARTFORD LINEAN [LINNEAN ?] BOTANIC ASSOCIATION.

This was incorporated in 1825; the charter members having been: Nathan Ruggles, John M. Niles, Ward Woodbridge, Henry Seymour, Henry Hudson, Sam. G. Chaffee, and David Watkinson. It was allowed to have a capital stock of $25,000, and was authorized to establish a botanic garden, nursery, green-houses, hot-houses, etc., and, in general, to foster studies in botanical science. What it accomplished, and how long its active existence was maintained, it would be interesting to learn; but, while it may have been, to some extent, an ally of the Society of Natural History, this is not known to have been the case; and hence, further inquiry concerning it will not be pursued at the present time.

X. BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE SOCIETY.

BY FRANK B. GAY.

The following list of the publications by the Connecticut Historical Society, or under its patronage, is believed to be full and complete enough for the demands of this pamphlet. It does not contain, however, various appeals for specific purposes, notices, or reports of committees printed but not published. Neither does it seem necessary to mention all newspaper accounts of meetings or of important donations, or other general allusions to the Society and its rooms or work. These may be found in the Hartford, New Haven, and other papers of the State, and in such magazines as the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Historical Magazine, Lossing's American Historical Record, and others. The exceptions to this rule are few, and included in the list for obvious reasons. Many more of interest could easily be given, such as the "Notice" for the first meeting in 1839 (Hartford Courant, May 29, 1839); action on the deaths of Hon. Thomas Day (Courant and Times, March 3, 1855) and Dr. Robbins (Courant, Sept. 20, 1856, 1½ col.); account of the first field-day meeting of the Society, at Mystic (Courant, June 6, 1888, 1 col.); and the partial bibliography of the Society (ten titles) by A. P. C. Griffin (Mag. of Am. Hist., v. 14, p. 108). It is not thought necessary to attempt the mention of the titles and present location of all articles read before the Society. However valuable such additions would be, the task of hunting them out from private desks, newspapers, magazines, and books, where they appear frequently without the author's name, cannot be undertaken by the present compiler.
